A Temperance Lecture at the Corners.

HOW MR. BASCOM ATTEMPTED TO KILL HIS INFLUENCE.

[From the Toledo Blade.]

CONFEDRIT X ROADS, (Wich is in the State uv Kentucky), Feb. 20, 1873.

The Corners is waggin on ez yoosual. Deekin Pogram, bless his old soul, is the same kind, geni l, old ma that he alluz wuz. But time hez lowe'l dee furrers in his cheeks, and the tetch uv his frosty fingers hez whitened his hair, and chilled the warm currents uv his blood. But the Deekin is resined. A more philosofical nacher I never knowd. He sez that age hez its advantages, ez well ez its disadvantages. Troo, his blood is colder than in youth, but ez a compensashen he hez to drink more likker. The pleasure uv takin the warmin floods more than compensates for the disadvantages uv age.

"But," sed I, "sposin yoor finances and Bascom's crooelty won't permit yoo yoor regler supplies."

"There is the silent toomb for me," sed he, "there is death."

"After wich," replied Joe Bigler, "yoo will doubtless be kept warm enough without likker."

That Joe Bigler alluz puts in unpleasant remarks at the wrong time.

The Corners hev bin threatened with serious disasters for some weeks back. Pullock and Joe Bigler, fur the express purpose uv worryin the saints, hev bin tryin to organize a temperance society and Sunday school, and that sort uv thing at the Corners, wich we steadfastly opposed. They wanted a series of temprence missionary sent out to the Nashael Society, and when they advertized him, we sent a note to 'em that we never could permit an innovashen that wuz intended to sweep away all the anshent landmarks, and revolutionize the Corners, and that while we beleeved in free speech, of the inalienable right uv Amerikin citizens, ef that man attempted to speak at the Corners, we'd hang him on the first tree—sure.

That afternoon Joe Bigler came to me and took me to one side.

"Parson," sed he, "we are agoin to hev at least one temperance lecture at the Corners."

"It will be our painful dooty to hang the lecturer," sed I, "for Bascom desires it. It a futerferin with his trade and our rites."

"Parson," sed Joe," with a wink and a leer, "ain't you often sick fur want uv a drink?"

"I am," sed I.

"Isn't it difficult to get all yoo want?" said he.

"It is," sed I.

"What wood yoo give for a strate week ov all yoo cood in to—free likker in short?"

"I shood be willin to die the next day," I replied, "die with neetnis and despatch. But why torment me with sich visions of Elysian bliss, wich are simply unattainable?"

"Parson, spose Deekin Pogram wuz to say to Bascom, that these meetins coodent be stopped, and that the only way to nootralize their effect, wuz to keep the Corners from attendin by makin his bar free door in their continyooance. Spose, ef he didn't bite at the beginin, that a dozen uv yoo go to the meeting one nite and not go near his place. I don't want yoo to do this, for ez yoo never pay nothin, yoor absence wood please him,—but McPelter, Issacher Gavitt and sum uv that kind, who hev land yet to mortgage. That'll fetch him—that'll fetch him."

I seed a lite. Visions of unlimited drinks rose before me, and I sed to him:

"Joseph, it shel be done. Announce yoor lecterer in safety. I hate his sentimence, Joseph, but free speech is the heritage and boast uv every freeman, and it shel not be violated at the Corners. Advertise him in peace."

I imejitly went to the Deekin, McPelter and Gavitt, and opened to them the idea, and they fell into it to wunst. It wuz refreshin to see the look uv expectancy on their bloo lips and their wry faces. I was deppytized to make the sujestion to Bascom, wich I imejitly did.

I laid before G. W. the impossibility of checkin the movement now bein inoggerated by Bigler and Pollock, and the danger that wuz conceeled in it. I told him that only by keepin the people uv the corners away from the accused fanatics, cood their work be made fruitless, and that only by throwin open his house and by puttin up a notice, "Likker is free here," could they be kept away.

Bascom larfed out and refoosed. Whereupon I sed very well, and left.

Immejitly I got the party together.

"Bascom hez refoosed," I remarkt, "ez I sposed he wood. Now fur severe measures. You must all go to the temprance meetin' to-nite, and must stop in after it's over, and refoose to drink, on the score that you've bin impressed."

"Go without likker one whole evenin! Parson, we can't do it."

Here wuz an impediment wich I hed overlooked. Uv course they couldn't go without likker a hull eveneu". But genius is ekal to all emergencies—bein ekal to all emergencies is wat constitoots genius. We hed a farmer go to Bascom's and buy a gallon.

Then Deekin Pogram remarked that probably he had better not go to the meetin, but wood stay and take keer of that jug, but they all sed, "No" unanimously, and each made the same proposishen wich wuz towunst rejected by the others. Finally, the jug wuz put in charge uv Mrs. McPelter, who can't drink,owin to her hevin no stomach watever to speek uv, and she wuz charged to put it under lock and key, and to git it out for nobody onless we all wuz present, so that there cood be no advantage taken. This bein done, they all took one sniff, one wich wood sustain em for an hour, and went to the lekter, levin me with Bascom.

Eight and nine passed, but not one uv em come to his old familiar place. Bascom was oneasy. I took suthin hot with him twice or three times, and talked uv the weather and things, but they came not. Finally, at 9½ they entered, looked grave and solemn.

"Deekin, McPelter, Issaker, will you take suthin," sed I, displayin a dollar note wich the Deekin had given me for the purpose.

"No!" sed the Deekin, "I am not shoor about drinkin. I hev listened to a powerful discourse about it to-night, and I hev mostly made up my mind to try and quit, ef I kin."

"Quit!" sed Bascom in amazement, "are yoo crazy?"

"I too hev made up my mind to quit" sed Issaker, and McPelter echoed him. "Good night Bascom" and we all went out together to McPelter's, where we made the jug consumptive.

Bascom was thoroughly alarmed. The next nite he put up a sign in his winder "Likkers is free here till further notis," wich I stood and read to the people, who but for me never wood hev knowd it.

That nite the lectrer lectured, but it wuz not to us. Bascom worked ez he never worked before. The Deekin went down first, Issaker next, McPelter next, and finally I succumbed. By this time the Deekin wuz sober, then Issaker, then McPelter and then me and so on till we wuz all thereby exhausted at about one when we quit.

The same scene was enacted the next nite and the next, and for a week. Bascom wuz neerly rooined, but wuz restored by the announcement that the next nite wood be the last. Then that wretched lectrer's life wuz made miserable. He wuz at Pollock's home, and from early morn to dewy eve he wuz besiged by sich another host uv inebriates ez he never saw before in all his days, with entreaties to go on.

"Go on," sed the Deekin, "go on. How kin yoo reconcile it with your dooty to leave the Corners, and me in danger of goin down to a drunkard's grave? I ain't reformed yet—go go."

And McPelter, Pennibacker, Issaker and a hundred more who hed bed all they wanted for a week, and wanted it to continyoo, begged him with tears in their eyes to go on in his good work.

But it wuz of no avail—he left, and Bascom pulled down his sign and likker hed to be paid for agin at the Corners.

The next day I met Joe Bigler.

"Hed a good time haven't yoo?" sed he.

"Excellent," sed I, "wood it cood hev continyood."

"Parson," said this aggravatin Joe, "I did this for three reasons. First—I sposed that a week of unlimited supplies wood kill the entire assortment of yoo. Second—I sposed that in a week yoo wood break up Bascom, and third, we wanted to organize the niggers into a temperance society, to keep em from becomin loathsome objects asyoo are, and didn't want to be interupted in the work. We hev only succeeded in the last item. Bascom has more money than we spozed he hed, and yoor bowels kin endoor more than I sposed they cood. I hev been lenient with whiskey—I hev sed that whiskey hez yooses. I told Polleck last week that ez whiskey wuz the only thing that cood kill Nasbys and Pograms and sich, that it wuz not a bad thing to hev. But now that I find it won't do it—that its only good men that it kills—I shel fite it ez an unmitigated cuss without any redeemin feechers. I am its enemy from this time out."

And he went away laffin vociferously.

Life isnt roseate now ez it wuz doorin that week. But thank Heavin the recollekshen uv that week never kin be taken from me. It wuz Heavenly. That it may be repeated, I am, at the sejestion uv Deekin Pogram and Issaker Gavitt, in correspondence with all the temperance lecturers in the country. We want temperance lecterers at the Corners. The temperance banner must be upheld at the Corners.

CORRESPONDENCE.

THE RELIGIOUS AMENDMENT.

Convention in Cooper Institute, New York—Addresses, Resolutions, Etc.

[Correspondence of the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

NEW YORK, March 3, 1873.

One of the most deeply interesting and important Conventions ever held in the city of New York, has recently come to a close. And as the object for which they met is one of great interest to many citizens of your vicinity, and by some strange oversight, no notice of it was made in the GAZETTE, I propose to refer to it very briefly.

During the dark days of the rebellion a Convention for prayer and conference with special reference to the state of the country was called to meet in Xenia, Ohio, on the third day of February, 1863. It included representatives from eleven different denominations of Christians, and from seven States of the Union. On the second day of it sessions Hon. John Alexander, now of Philadelphia, laid on the table a paper to the effect that the nation was suffering under the judgment of God, that as a nation His favor should be invoked, and that the defects in the National Constitution so dishonoring to God should be remedied, and the following outline of what seemed to be needed in the preamble of that instrument suggested:

"We, the people of the United States, [acknowledging Almighty God as the source of all power and authority in civil government, the Lord Jesus Christ as the ruler of nations and the revealed will of God as of supreme authority in civil affairs] do ordain and establish this Constitution for the United States of America."

The above amendment was endorsed unanimously by the convention, one of its most earnest advocates being Rev. Samuel Collins of your city. In the July ensuing a council was held in Pittsburgh for the furtherance of the object, the call of which was written by the venerable and lamented Dr. John T. Pressly. The first national convention of citizens favorable to the measure assembled in Allegheny City on the 27th day of January, 1864. Hon. J. Alexander was President, with a full list of other officers. At this Convention a delegation was appointed to visit Washington and urge the proposed amendment on the attention of President Lincoln. Dr. McIlvaine, of Princeton, made the address on behalf of the committee, and the President replied, cordially approving the general aspects of the movement. In the July following, the first annual meeting of the Association was held in the Eighth street M. E. Church, Philadelphia. The next meeting of the Association was held in New York, May 16th, 1866, and since that time National Conventions have been held with great and increasing results.

The last Convention held, and to which I desire to refer briefly, was that held during last week in the large hall of the Cooper Institute, New York. The meeting was called to order by Hon John Alexander, and opened with prayer by Dr. A. M. Milligan, of Pittsburgh. Hon. Felix R. Brunot, of Allegheny, was chosen permanent President, with a long list of other officers, representing almost every State in the Union. There were present four hundred and sixty-six certified delegates, from sixteen States and one territory. The principal speakers on the occasion were Rev. D. McAllister, of New York; President Miner, of Tuft's College; President Hays, of Washington and Jefferson College; Rev. Dr. Craven, Rev. Dr. J. H. McIlvaine, Rev. Dr. Stephen H. Tyng, of New York; Rev. J. P. Lytle, Rev. John Hogg, Dr. Jonathan Edwards, President H. H. George, Prof. J. R. W. Sloane, D.D., and Rev. Dr. A. M. Milligan.

During one of the sessions a Dr. Treat, on behalf of a society of New Jersey Atheists, was permitted to read a protest against the movement, but becoming abusive and blasphemous, amid intense excitement he was refused a further hearing.

The presence of that destinguished lady Mrs. Jane G. Swisshelm added great interest to the occasion. During the sitting she delivered several short addresses which were received with great enthusiasm. She offered a resolution quietly committing the convention to the Woman's Rights question, which was adopted without a dissenting voice.

The Convention in point of numbers and in many other respects was said to excel any held in New York for a long time. It was remarked by an old anti-slavery man that Cooper Institute never contained such an audience during all the anti-slavery struggle. And then those present and deeply interested were generally representative men—men of high standing in the community, men of culture and strong moral force. In looking over the thousands present one was struck with the number of white heads present, men who were old in years, but determined in the cause they had espoused. These are the men who do not don their armor for holiday parade but enlist for the war, and who shall never give up until victory perches on their banners.

The reports given to the Convention of the success of the movement was exceedingly encouraging and beyond the most sanguine expectations of its friends. The movement has spread over the entire country.

In a financial point of view, the Convention was a success. More money will be raised this year than has been realized since the commencement of the work.

The following is a copy of the resolutions adopted by the Convention:

Resolved, That the Ninth General Convention of the National Association for the Religious Amendment of the Constitution of the United States reaffirms its deep conviction of the greatness and the necessity of the work in which it is engaged.

Resolved, That the principles which underlie this movement commend themselves to the common sense and conscience of men as true, as practical and of great importance.

Resolved, That in the judgment of this convention, a nation and an administration of government can no more exist without moral character, moral influence and religion than without a language, and that any attempt to do so is not only absurd but dangerous.

Resolved, That it is the clear right and duty of a Christian people to make solemn acknowledgment of God as their author of government, and to make unmistakable mention of their preference of Christianity as their religion in their national Constitution, both that God may thus be duly honored and that legal presumptions may be created in favor of Christian morality, Christian usages and Christian institutions.

Resolved, That such acknowledgment of God and of revelation is not designed and does not tend in any wise to oppress any individual conscience or to effect any union of Church and State, nor can it ever be pleaded, used or even perverted to such injurious ends.

Resolved, That this Convention does not regard the precise form of petition sent to Congress in the interest of this reform as at all essential, provided the main issue be fairly included, viz: that it is impossible for a State to be neutral in religion and morals, and that the Christian religion is an essential element in American civilization, as shown in the whole history of this country.

Resolved, That the signs of the times, the rapid deterioration of public morals and the bold demands of organized political infidelity show conclusively and impressively that the alternative now presented to the American people is atheism or Christianity, and that failure to adopt this proposed amendment involves ultimately general immorality and anarchy.

Resolved, That, thanking God and taking courage upon a review of the past, this Convention declares the time to be fully come for more extended agencies than have heretofore been employed, and that especially it is important to secure systematic and liberal contribution of funds for this purpose.

Before returning home the delegates from Pennsylvania met in the parlors of the La Peirre House, corner of Broadway and Eighth street, and passed resolutions of thanks to the proprietor of that most excellent hotel for many favors bestowed.

Before closing I cannot help expressing my utter disgust at the New York press, with the exception of the Times, for the manner in which they misrepresented and falsified the entire proceedings of the Convention. Pittsburghers will appreciate their own GAZETTE more in the future. K.

House and Contents Burned—Railroad Prospects—Religious Revival—The Weather.

[Correspondence to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

CHERRY TREE, March 4, 1872.

Geo. Patchin's dwelling house, just below town, was burned to the ground last week. The contents were mostly consumed. Business papers all gone. Mr. P. and wife were both from home at the time. The fire originated from a stove pipe.

The railroad prospects are brightening. The citizens are jubilant over it. The contemplated route is from Clearfield town to Indiana, thus making a through route. This grade is so much better than the old mountain road, that there is scarcely a comparison, and there is no doubt as to this becoming a profitable road. Railroad ties and pine timber are here in great abundance. Also timber for bridge building.

The revival in the Gettysburg Methodist Church, S. F. Crowther, pastor, still continues, and is doing a good work. There has not been such a revival in this part of the country for a great many years, if ever. The influence is felt for miles in all directions.

The winter continues unabated. Snow has covered the ground for three and a half months. Good sleighing now. The river banks are piled with timber. C.

Pomeroy's Page—He Brings Suit to get that $7,000.

TOPEKA, KA., March 4.—J. Q. Page brought suit in the District Court here to-day against Governor Osborne, Lieutenent Governor Steven, State Treasury Hays and Col. York, for the recovery of the $7,000 procured by York from Senator Pomeroy. The Sheriff found the money in the State Treasurer's safe and took charge of it. The defendents subsequently gave bond for the money under the status and the historic packages were restored to their possession.

Collision of Freight Trains.

CINCINNATI, March 5.—On the I. & C. Railroad an accident occured yesterday afternoon, twelve miles west of this city, consisting in the collision of two freight trains, the almost utter destruction of two locomotives, and the loss of seven loaded freight cars by burning, footing up an estimated loss of about $20,000. Three horses perished in one car, another containing cattle, and another was loaded with whisky.

THE PRESIDENT'S CABINET NOT TO BE RENOMINATED.

Special Dispatch to the Pittsburgh Gazette.
WASHINGTON, March 5, 1873.

Representative Kelley and the Credit Mobilier.

Hon. Wm. D. Kelley called on Treasurer Spinner to-day and made a full statement of the Credit Mobilier controversy between him and Oakes Ames, and requested Spinner to demand of Ames a full statement of all the dividends on Credit Mobilier stock which Ames claimed to hold for Kelley, who said he had not been able to get from Ames any statement of such dividends. Mr. Kelley said he had transferred to the United States his claims to the stock in question, if he had any, but he did not wish Treasurer Spinner to credit it to the conscience fund, for he still asserted that it was never his property, but belonged to the United States. Mr. Kelley made this statement in the presence of gentlemen who listened at his request.

Ex-Senator Patterson's Case.

It is reported there is an agreement among Senators to take up the case of ex-Senator Patterson, of New Hampshire. The Senate has no power in the case except to discuss and pass a resolution.

Preparing for the Next Congress

A caucus of Republican Senators will be held to-morrow or Friday, to arrange the Senate committees for the Forty-third Congress. Little will be done this week except to organize the Senate committees.

Geological Surveys in the Northwest.

A geological survey of the northwest territories of the United States, under the auspices of the Interior Department, has just been completed. The party who made the survey was divided into two companies, each company being provided with a photographer, astronomer, meteorologist and geologists. The materials for a map of the entire district were secured, and will be prepared in contour lines of one hundred feet, thus giving to common observation a representation in detail of that marvellous scenery, which is known to so few of our people, to say nothing of foreigners. The first party, under direction of Prof. Hayden, the chief geologist, took Fort Ellis, Montana, as an initial point and proceeded up the valley to the Yellowstone. The survey of the park was completed in detail and the Madison and Gallatin Forks were surveyed from their source to their junction near Gallatin City.

The other took a route from Ogden, Utah, to Fort Hall, Idaho. This party was commanded by Mr. James Stevenson. Under his direction they surveyed the hitherto almost unknown Peton range, then passed up the valley of Hena's Fork, entered the Madison Valley and joined the first party. Great credit is due these officers of the Government for their arduous labors. In addition to the utility of the survey, which must be world-wide in their application, they have not neglected the ornamental hundreds of views of the sublime scenery, the sublimest scenery in fact in the world, including the three Petons, Geysers, lakes and rivers. They also collected a large number of curious specimens of stone, slate &c., which are now deposited in the National Museum. Mr. N. B. Langford, who is superintendent of the Yellowstone National Park, has also transmitted his report to Secretary Delano, which contains a most interesting description of that institution.

Royal Honors.

From a private letter from London to the Chief of the Bureau of Statistics, it is learned that the Emperor of Germany has bestowed on Mr. Truebner, the well known London publisher, the cross of the order of the Crown of Prussia. Mr. Truebner has not only attained great eminence as a publisher, but for his literary and scientific attainments. DIAMOND.

Military Organizations Reviewed.

The President received very few visitors today, but received several military organizations, who came to pay their respects, and reviewed others from the stand facing Lafayette square.

Weather Probabilities.

For Wednesday in New England, winds backing to southwest and south, with rising temperature; for the Middle States, southerly winds and falling barometer, with increasing cloudness; for the South Atlantic and Gulf States, southeasterly winds and cloudy weather, with rain on the Western Gulf and possibly on the South Atlantic coast; from the Ohio Valley Northward over the Lake Region, falling barometer, increasing southeasterly winds, cloudy and threatening weather.

The President's Cabinet.

The only immediate change in the cabinet will be in the Secretaryship of the Treasury should the present incumbent be elected to the Senate of the United States. The opinion that the President need not re-nominate the present members of the cabinet for confirmation by the Senate is strengthened by the fact that all of them were at their respective departments today, attending to their official duties, and it is said by gentlemen in executive positions that no such re-nominations will be made.

Nominations Confirmed.

The Senate on Tuesday confirmed the following nominations: Charles Stephani, Collector of Internal Revenue for the Twelfth District of Illinois; Charles M. Pravis, of Indiana, Consul at Para; Commodore Gustavus H. Schott, to be Rear Admiral; David D. Smith, Supervising Inspector General of Steamboats; Leander S. Dyer, Appraiser of Merchandise at Memphis, Tenn.

Promotion of Clerks.

President Grant to-day promoted Levi P. Luckey, of Illinois, to be his Private Secretary, C. C. Shiffler to be Assistant Private Secretary, and O. L. Prudea to be Executive Clerk. Those promotions are in accordance with the principle of civil service reform.

THE INDIANS.

Terms to be Offered to the Modocs—Unsatisfactory Interviews—War Speech of Capt. Jack.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 5.—A dispatch received from Fairchilds, via Yreka, says: Elijah Steele left here yesterday morning with instructions from the peace commissioners to offer to the Modocs the following terms as a basis of peace: First, surrender as prisoners of war to General Canby, and receive full amnesty for the past; second, be removed to Angelis Island, there to be clothed, fed and sheltered as soldiers are till a permanent home in some warmer country may be found, perhaps Arizona; third, to be fed, clothed and sheltered in their new home till such time as they will be able to maintain themselves, their women and children, to receive transportation to Angelis Island, thence to their new home; fourth, General Canby is of the opinion that he can promise Captain Jack and some of his head men permission to visit the President.

An interview in the evening with the Indians was very unsatisfactory. Scouchim was quite hostile in manner. The speech of Captain Jack was pacific. Sixty-nine warriors were present at the council, twenty odd of whom were strangers to Steele. After the council Scar-faced Charlie told Steele to sleep in his bed, as there was danger of his safety, and that he would look out for him. Charlie sat beside him all night. In the morning Captain Jack was decorated with a warrior's hat, and Scouchim was the chief speaker, quite vicious in tone and manner. After he had done, Captain Jack made a war speech, and the warrior's hat was removed from his head. Twenty-three warriors were present only at the morning council. Jack and Scouchim claimed that these were all the warriors they had, not thinking they had been counted the evening before. They finally proposed that if they could be left in the Lava Bed, and the past forgotten, they would make peace, and wanted Meacham and Applegate to come to them to-morrow to shake hands and conclude peace.

It is quite evident they intended treachery to these men. They did not want Commissioners Rosborough or Case to come to the Lava Bed, but said they could come if they pleased. Scarfaced Charley wanted to settle the matter and get away and behave like a white man.

This is all the commissioners will allow Mr. Steele to make public at this time. It is thought outside parties have been misrepresenting matters to the Indians who came out a few days since.

An Invitation to the President.

CHARLESTON, S. C., March 5.—The City Council of this city unanimously resolved that the Mayor extend an invitation to President Grant to visit Charleston during his contemplated southern tour, and that he be received and entertained as the guest of this city during his stay.

Annual Meeting of Directors and Stockholders of the Union Pacific

BOSTON, March 5.—The annual meeting of the Union Pacific Railroad was in session here today, President Clarke in the chair. A caucus of the present Board of Directors and stockholders, held before the meeting, was some time in agreeing upon candidates for the new Board, the Ames interest opposing any further concession to the New York or Clarke party than had already been made. Upon the stockholders assembling for business, the President read the following:

Washington, D. C., March 3.—Hon. Horace J. Clarke—Dear Sir: In view of the recent action of the House of Representatives, which would seem to declare that a member of Congress, because in self-interest, could not vote, with even a tariff coat on his back, or, in other words, that the House must be recruited hereafter from the alms houses of the country, I have ordered to be sold a small number of shares I have held in the Union Pacific Railroad, purposely to render myself ineligible to your Board of Directors. Please also say to the assembled stockholders that I have thus disqualified myself for re-election, because I am a member of the next Congress, and because hereafter I intend to be free to open my mouth without any suspicion of self-interest, and to act and to vote as my judgment dictates, whereas for some years past I have often withheld my vote when the common interests of the Government and the road demanded an affirmative vote and an energetic speech. Indeed, the interests of this great Government and this great road, the greatest enterprise of the world for ten centuries, are so identical that I am quite sure I shall never find one in conflict with the other, and therefore justly defend both from assault.

Yours respectfully,
JAMES BROOKS.

The following were elected directors: Horace F. Clark, of New York; John Duff, Boston; Augustus Schell, New York; Oakes Ames, Easton; Oliver Ames, Easton; Sidney Dillon, Council Bluffs; C. S. Bushnell, New York; Elisha Atkins, Boston; Royall E. Robbins, Waltham; F. Gordon Dexter, Boston; E. H. Baker, Boston; Joseph Richardson, New York, George S. Bowdoin, New York; Frederick Nickerson, Boston, and O. S. Chapman, Canton, Mass. The eleven gentlemen first in order were unanimously elected.

F. Chuhardt, of New York, and H. E. Parsons, of Ashtabula. The eight last named are new members of the directory, and represent the Erie Railroad. The following officers were chosen: President, H. B. Hurlbut; Vice President, H. E. Parsons; Secretary, Geo. H. Russell; General Manager, Oscar Townsend.

UTAH.

The Mormon Press Becoming Milder—The President's Inaugural Address Received with Favor.

SALT LAKE, March 5.—The News, the principal Mormon organ, has a congratulatory article this evening on the failure of legislation for Utah by the late Congress. Some little exultation crops out in the Herald, but altogether the tone of the Mormon press is unexpectedly mild. The inaugural address of Grant is received with expressions of favor by all parties. The Mormons claim he was misinformed on the situation here, and reiterate that a committee to investigate would be best for the interests of all.

The Gentiles are hopeful that a special session will be called and the question settled one way or other at once.

Road Clear.

No further interruption to overland travel is apprehended from snow. The road from Omaha to San Francisco is reported entirely clear, and trains are regular.

The first marriage took place eight years ago, and the second two months ago, to Jennie Carr, a girl of eighteen.

Notwithstanding the temporary excitement now existing over the Local Option question the old established and thoroughly reliable wholesale importing house of S. S. Watters & Co., No. 33 Diamond, continue to make additions to their already large stock of pure wines and liquors, both foreign and domestic. If all parties were as strictly conscientious in the conduct of their business as this firm there would be less agitation on the subject of intemperance, for they deal only in the very best and purest liquors, the temperate or moderate use of which will harm nobody. Their prices are very reasonable when the particular excellence of their goods is considered. From long personal acquaintance with the gentlemen of the firm we can confidently commend them to the patronage of our readers who may desire the possession of pure and unadulterated liquors of all descriptions for medicinal or other purposes.

NEW ORLEANS.

The Muddle Culminated in Hostilities.

Battle Between McEnery's Militia and Police.

The Militia Routed and Order Restored.

Aggressive Movements by the Militia.

NEW ORLEANS, March 5.—The seventh precinct station was quietly taken possession of last night by the McEnery militia. No resistance was offered by the Metropolitans on duty there, and no effort has been made to-day to displace the militia. It is understood aggressive moves will be made by the militia to-night. For twenty squares to-night only one policemen was found on duty. They have been called from their beats and concentrated about the stations, Mechanics Institute, etc.

Fight Between Militia and Policemen.

At about half-past nine o'clock to-night a squad of perhaps fifty men attacked the third precinct station, firing into the building. They were repulsed by the police, but were quickly reinforced by about three hundred men. These were attacked by General Badger with about two hundred police and a piece of artillery, and for about five minutes a sharp rattle of musketry ensued. Both parties maintained their position during this time, but at the second discharge of the cannon the militia retreated through Jackson square, and half an hour later the police relieved their comrades, who remained during the conflict within the building. One man, a Mr. Hartman, was killed, and several were wounded.

Later.—General Badger moved down Charles street from Canal. Quite a large crowd had by this time collected about Jackson Square and on the streets leading thereto. When near the crowd General Badger ordered them to disperse. The militia refused to give way, when the police fired a blank cartridge, and soon after another shot was fired. This time the gun was loaded with grape. By this time one man was killed and several wounded. Another charge of grape was fired out of Stann street.

Some ten or twelve are reported wounded, but only one man is reported killed as far as known. Only one policeman was wounded during the entire fight. At one time the firing was quite brisk, resembling somewhat a picket skirmish. For powder expended and fuss made, the damage was remarkably light. The grape of the metropolitans was more than the militia bargained for, and they are reported to have weakened speedily. Many of them are reported to have skeddadled in great disorder.

The United States troops, about eleven o'clock, reached the scene of the conflict, and the remaining militia retired, leaving them in possession. The Kelloggites are jubilant. The McEnerytes are quite the reverse. The United States troops now occupy Jackson Square and other points in the city, and will no doubt prevent further disorder.

All reports about a compromise are unfounded, as telegraphed on Saturday. A compromise is improbable; in fact it is now regarded as impossible.

A company of United States cavalry, at 1 o'clock, passed up Camp street, to Gen. Emory's headquarters, but soon after returned to Jackson square. They are held in readiness to assist the police in quieting any attack that may be made. No further trouble is apprehended to-night, the militia being satisfied at leaving them in possession. The city is full of rumors. At this hour (1:10) the streets are almost deserted. Up to twelve o'clock they were crowded with people. Everybody is inquiring the news from the seat of war. Thousands of rumors were current, but the facts in the case have been given above.

Chartered by the State of Pennsylvania.
Capital Stock $400 000. Shares $100 Each.
Tinners, capitalists and all persons seeking a SAFE INVESTMENT for surplus means, are invited to investigate the present status of this company, and the tangible and undisputed basis upon which its Board of Directors assume that the stock will pay a dividend of 40 PER CENT. annually!
Not a box of tin or terne plate has ever been made in the United States, while 75 per cent. of all the plates made in England are imported to this country. In 1872, 2,384,681 boxes of tin plates were imported; and for two weeks of 1873, ending Jan. 25, there were imported 17,181 boxes.
A Birmingham (England) paper says: "Of our total shipments of tin plates the United States absorbs nearly 75 per cent.—the quantity last year showing a trifling increase compared with 1871. We understand that this manufacture is now being undertaken in America, and some of the trade will, therefore, be lost to us."
The company has purchased land for the works near McKeesport, Pa., on the Monongahela river, and in the heart of the coal and coke region. And will have railroad and river transportation to all parts of the country; also, the letters patent of Wm. O. Davies for coating plates, which patent gives this company 25 per cent. advantage over any competing manufactory of tin plate that may be established.
Stock books are now open at the Wylie Avenue Savings' Bank, and "Iron World" office, Pittsburgh; and Allegheny Homestead Bank, 244 Beaver avenue, Allegheny City.

THURSDAY, MARCH 6, 1873.

BONDS at Frankfort 95½.

PETROLEUM at Antwerp 44f.

GOLD closed in New York yesterday at 115½.

THE Local Option bill has passed the Senate, and now goes to the Governor for his signature. The new City Charter, for this city, has also made its appearance at Harrisburg. It ought to be watched.

MINISTER BANCROFT gave a dinner Tuesday, at the American Legation, in Berlin, in honor of the second inauguration of President Grant. Bismark, who, it will be remembered, telegraphed the President a congratulatory message on the occasion of his first inauguration, proposed the toast to his health on this occasion.

THE frauds of the Bank of England are now reported at from two to three million dollars. A man named Noyes is imprisoned at Newgate, charged with being a clerk or accessory of the guilty parties. It is hoped that he may be induced to give information that will lead to the arrest of the others. The parties using the bonds represented themselves as about to introduce palace cars on English railways.

GOVERNOR DIX, of New York, has deferred the execution of Foster, the car hook murderer, for a few days, pending a more thorough investigation of his case. It is stated that Hamilton Fish, Dr. Tyng, Governor Dix's son-in-law and daughter-in-law, and even the wife of the murdered man, have united in urging the commutation of his punishment. As an expression of sympathy, we have no objection to all this, but in the absence of any clearly defined reason for it, we hope he will not be given the commutation asked for. The murder was totally unprovoked, and was brutal and vengeful. If he is allowed to escape the full penalty of his crime, there is little use in pretending to hang for murder; and New York needs the example of a few executions.

FINANCIALLY speaking, the inauguration ball was a failure. About three thousand persons were present, and the building was cold and dreary. Whether the people were deterred from attending because of the disagreeable experiences of four years ago, or from a suspicion that the cold might not be excluded from the ball building, or whether the outside attractions proved more alluring than those inside, or whether the high price of tickets had its influence—for some reason or reasons, the people were not tempted, and the affair was a failure. It may be questioned whether any great sorrow need be entertained, as the ball was designed for the enjoyment of those who chose to attend, and these were all there.

THE intelligence from Spain grows increasingly gloomy for the Republic. The Carlist forces are represented as gaining substantial successes, while the forces of the Government are very uncertain in their loyalty. A rumor was current, a few days since that Serrano had been proclaimed dictator, but this is probably premature. It will be an occasion for sincere regret if the Republic goes down. It has at its head some of the best element in Europe, and promises to be a model in its way. Its failure will furnish proof that the Spanish people are not yet prepared for a Republic, and that they must endure a long term of monarchical rule, before they will be ready for constitutional freedom. We shall deeply regret the establishment of monarchical rule there, as there was so much promise in the new Republic, that we hoped it would remain as an example. True, the peculiarities of the Spanish people were against the idea of a successful Republic,—but no one can tell, of late years, how rapidly people may be growing in their love of liberty. Still, the very fact that such a form of Government had a short existence there is in proof that it may be again established, and may yet lead to one more perfect and enduring.

THE Fisheries bill, passed by Congress at the urgent solicitation of the President, has a greater immediate value to American fishermen than we imagined. The Gloucester, Mass., Advertiser, says of it: "It opens to our fishermen the inshore fisheries of the Dominion in the waters of Canada and Prince Edward Island, having a separate provision for Newfoundland, whenever the arrangement can be effected. The adoption of the treaty relieves our people from the harsh treatment and espionage employed against them by the Dominion government, and that government will also be relieved from employing renegade blockade runners to harrass honest fishermen, and must feel a degree of pride at renouncing a business which in the opinion of the civilized world was little short of piracy. Whatever the effect may be upon the fisheries of the United States, the provincials are sure of beneficial results. They will now enjoy the trade derived from partially fitting out some six or eight hundred American vessels, and will probably send us fish and mackerel that will save them yearly $150,000 in duties. Their vessels will freight home a large proportion of the American catch, and the fishing business will be stimulated by this free market all along their coast. The great object gained by us, is not so much the advantage of their shore fisheries as the relief from annoyance caused by an entire misinterpretation of the treaty of 1818."

AS CONGRESS has adjourned, there is, we see, the usual disposition to bestow upon it a large amount of indiscriminate praise, not that any very remarkable legislation was enacted, but because of the Credit Mobilier exposures. We are not disposed to undervalue these, but we remember when Speaker Blaine so earnestly insisted on this investigation there was a very decided unwillingness to enter upon it; but his persistency conquered, and the investigation commenced. Once begun, and it was tolerably thorough, although the conclusions reached by the Committee were not in perfect accord with the evidence. Still, the evidence developed, even though the guilty apparently escaped, affords the people an opportunity to mete out punishment to those deserving it. Hence, while qualified praise may be bestowed on the Congress just expired, it can only be of a qualified nature. We would be glad to bestow unmixed praise, for example, for the repeal of the franking privilege, but the fact that the whole affair was accidental and unintentional prevents us. The Senate thought to make a foot-ball of the bill, as it had done for years, and so stripped it of all qualifications, passed it, and sent it back to the House, confident that it would be rejected. But there were enough resolute friends of the measure in the House to save it, and so the bill went through. And since then all kinds of petty affront have been put upon the Postoffice Department, in return for the repeal. We are gratified at the exposure of rascality, because we think they will deter others from similar doings; we enjoy the repeal of the franking privilege, because we think it right; but we wish both had been more graciously done. There was considerable rigor displayed toward the last, for which praise may be bestowed; but there were measures of transcendant importance—for example those relating to the development of our inland and ocean commerce, which ought to have received careful attention.

WE HAVE been aware, for some time, that the motive of the Post, in supporting the Local Option bill, was neither high nor pure, but were willing that it should go ahead, and aid a right cause, even when its motives were entirely partisan. It now avows its real aim, however, but in doing so, it can hardly fail to forfeit the confidence and respect both of temperance and liquor men. Its theory has been, that the adoption of Local Option would place the Republican party in a position of antagonism to the liquor interests, and this done, their money and influence could be commanded against it. In its yesterday's issue, it says: "We hope the Liquor League will not overlook the fact that it was a Republican, Mr. Ramsey, who objected to, and a Republican House that refused them one year in which to close up their business. Let them remember, too, that the law was enacted by Republicans—those whom they helped to send to Harrisburg." We hope the Liquor League will remember that the Post, the representative paper of the Democracy of Western Pennsylvania, has constantly urged the passage of the Local Option bill. We say this, not that we desire to draw upon our contemporary any ill-feeling, but simply as a fact. Further, the Local Option measure was not understood to receive partisan support in the House. There were Democrats who voted for it, and Republicans who voted against it. We sustain it, because we believe it to be right, and without reference to partisanship at all. We most earnestly hope that the Post will develop enough of honor to take the same position. But it is contemptible beyond expression for a journal to advocate a measure for time, and then suddenly say to those on the other side,—"it is not we that hurt you; but the injury came from those Republicans to whom you gave your support." Of course, all this is equivalent to saying, that inasmuch as some liquor dealers are Republicans, the Post helps to have the Local Option bill passed; but that if they were only Democrats, it would take the opposite side. We are not all solicitous as to the effect of such transparent trickery, as liquor dealers are not all Republicans, and those that are have common sense; but we detest such contemptibly small partisanship.

WORK OF THE LEGISLATURE.

We think it is about time the Legislature should settle down to steady work, and abandon the practice of adjourning over from Thursday noon until Tuesday, for that, in effect, is what these weekly adjournments amount to. The Monday night sessions are generally of no account, save to put through some exceptionable job of private legislation in the absence of a good many members. They are resorted to mainly for the purpose of evading the constitutional restriction on adjournments, that one house shall not adjourn for a longer space than three days without the consent of the other. The Legislature has now been in session eight weeks, and the working days each week have not averaged more than three; not that in effect, for the week of the Geary obsequies there was no public business transacted. The Legislature should abandon this vicious practice of adjourning every week in order that the members may run off to their homes, or get up little excursions to New York, Philadelphia and Washington. The idea of devoting three days a week to public duties, and four days to private pursuits, is an absurdity on its face, and protracts the session to a much longer time than is necessary.

So far this session about twelve hundred private bills have been presented in the two Houses, and we presume about two-thirds have passed one House or the other, or both. We can recall but a single public law of importance that has got through. The reason of this is very plain. The House of Representatives is the great reservoir for private legislation, and it only devotes one day a week to what is called the "public calendar," which is made up of bills supposed to be in the interest of the whole people. Usually there are eight or ten measures of this character, to two or three hundred on the private calendar. Even the one day allotted to the public business is grudgingly bestowed, for the members' minds are so intent on their several specialities in legislation,—all mere jobs of greater or less magnitude—that they have not the inclination, nor are their faculties in the condition to consider the general principles involved in public enactments. The fact is, and a close observer at Harrisburg cannot fail to appreciate it, that about two-thirds of the members of the Legislature regard the consideration of anything but private bills as a waste of time. This is the result of a demoralization inherent in our system of legislation, for which we can only look to the Constitutional Convention for a remedy, and the people will excuse that body for many imperfections in its work in other respects if it thoroughly and completely eradicates this abuse. The local option legislation was delayed, and came near being defeated, because it infringed on the time members desired for their private schemes. We read in the proceedings that Mr. Sam. Josephs, of Philadelphia, made artful appeals to members to delay it, because there were so many private bills in which so many of them were interested, that the consideration of this public measure, demanded by three-fourths of the people, would throw them over. This, in effect, was a bare-faced proposition to bribe members, by throwing their individual interests in the scale in opposition to the demands of the great body of the people. That it failed was simply owing to the warning notes that came up to the representatives from every part of the State.

There are some public laws of importance that before this should have been reported from Committees that the people might have an opportunity of examining them. A revision of the tax laws, and a reduction or repeal of the unjust taxes on associated capital for industrial purposes, is one that may be mentioned as of pressing importance. Yet we question if any thought has been bestowed on it by members, so deeply are they involved in the meshes of private legislation. The reorganization of the Treasury Department, and the manner of electing a State Treasurer, so as to bring existing laws in accord with the Constitutional amendment for the election of that officer by the people, is another matter of great moment. While we do not see that there is much to be gained by the election of a State Treasurer this spring, yet we tell members it will not do to postpone this question until the closing hours of the session, and then throw it over until next year. It is their duty—a sworn duty—to make provision for the election of State Treasurer by the people at the October election this year, and the assumption of the duties of the office, by the person so elected, at as early a date as practicable after the election. Under the provision that the incumbent shall hold over until his successor is chosen, the present State Treasurer will enjoy one term of office to which he was not elected, and it will be a manifest wrong to extend this term still farther by a failure to pass the necessary laws for the election of State Treasurer, in October next, by the people. In addition to these matters, as yet nothing has been heard from the Committee on Congressional Apportionment. The State should be re-districted this year so that we may be rid of the anomaly of electing Congressmen-at-large, and the people of the newly formed districts may have ample time to become familiar with their changed political relations in the election of Congressmen. It is true the apportionment may be made by the next Legislature, but it is to the interest not only of the dominant party in the State, but the people, that it should be made at this session. The Republican majority is decided in both branches, and the members were chosen on strongly marked political issues. This is an off year in politics, and it is not at all unlikely we may have complications of an entirely new character in the choice of the next Legislature.

We trust that the Legislature, in view of what we have said, will aim to be a little more industrious; will abandon its needless adjournments, and consequent waste of time, every week; and devote a fraction of its sessions to the consideration and passage of needed public measures. We have no great hopes that it will, but the Republican majority in the Legislature should understand the people will hold their party responsible for all sins of omission or commission, and this year State matters will be watched with a closer scrutiny than they have been for several years past. The next election will be a purely State election, and one of extraordinary interest, because it will involve the fate of the new Constitution; we will not have the advantage of General Grant's name as a candidate, or national politics to help us over the rugged phases of the canvass, but the Republican party will be judged and the verdict given on its administration of State affairs. This point the majority in the Legislature will do well to keep in view.

VARIOUS ITEMS OF INTEREST.

IOWA had 5,663,994 acres of land under cereals and hay last year.

A MICHIGAN man feeds seven bushels of corn a day to his 2,000 chickens and turkeys.

A MAN in Oregon has a calf with wings. He keeps it chained in order to prevent a rise in veal.

THE value of the manufacturing products of the State of New Hampshire ten years ago was $37,000,000. Now it is $71,000,000.

A COUPLE of good Samaritans in Bridgeport, Conn., offered to sit up with a dying neighbor last week, and found a profit in their philanthropy by pocketing his spoons.

LAURA FAIR's example is bringing forth fruit. A San Francisco servant girl slapped her mistress in the face for venturing to hint that her movements were too slow, and when the husband remonstrated, she stabbed him twice. Yet there are people who talk about an inferior sex.

TROY, N. Y., has a case wherein a respectable citizen leaves his wife and six children to elope with a young lady named Alice Wells. The ingrates name is Melvin Law. It appears that, before their departure, the eloping parties were clandestinely married by a clergyman, the man affirming that he had never been married before.

THE pert misses of a San Francisco grammar school have mutinied against the principal, who to do them justice, would seem to be an ignoramus generally. The girls' grievances are summed up in this frank confession of one of them reported: "We hate him. He don't know anything—he's a fool, and I told him so—he don't smell good."

JACOB HATFIELD, a German laborer, aged about twenty-three, was shot dead on Friday night, on the highway, four miles south of Rushville, Indiana, and robbed of about three hundred dollars. Jerry Anderson has been arrested for the murder. Blood was found on his shirt, boots and coat. He bought a revolver a few days since, but will give no account of where it is.

A SINGULAR railway accident occurred recently in Italy. The boiler of an engine burst, tearing the locomotive to pieces, sending the forward half with the four wheels along the line, and reversing and overturning the tender and wagons to the last one. The fireman was shot up into the air with such force that, coming in contact with the telegraph wires, they snapped like threads, and the man, describing a semi-circle, fell dead.

THE business of divorce before the English courts would do justice to Indiana, according to late reports. "It appears," says the Pall Mall Gazette, "that the labors which proved too much for Lord Penzance's health are beginning even thus early to tell upon his successor. Sir James Hannen remarked the other day that he did not know how he should be able to cope with the business thrown on him in his court." And a great part of this work comes from the divorce cases.

ABOUT 30 years ago, Gerritt Smith donated to Oberlin College a tract of 65 acres of land in West Virginia. Some years ago the College attempted to sell the land, which has increased in value until now it is worth $25,000 or $30,000, but it was found that squatters had taken possession of it and would not yield. Suits of ejectment were brought against them, and, after years of litigation, at a cost to the college of $4,000, the matter has at length been decided against the squatters.

THE India-rubber trade of the United States has grown rapidly during the past ten years, and is controlled by New York and Boston merchants. The imports at New York in 1872 amounted to 11,860,929 pounds, against 9,000,000 pounds in 1871, and 8,500,000 pounds in 1870. The imports at Boston were also large last year. Para and Central American rubber is the most extensively used for manufacturing purposes, constituting nearly nine-tenths of the whole quantity of rubber imported annually.

THE fourth wife of a man in the eastern part of Milton, Mass., was (as is usual for ladies after marriage) regulating the fixtures in general about the house, and went into the attic, accompanied by a boy of some six or seven summers, where she saw a pair of neatly made saw-horses, such as carpenters use in cutting lumber. She said: "Sammy, my son, what are these horses for?" "Well, father keeps them horses to put his wives' coffins on." Imagine that span of horses taking a Sam Patch leap from the attic window of a two story house, with: "I guess my coffin won't ride you this week."

A LITTLE Little Rock (Ark.) girl died a few days ago of what was supposed to be cerebro-spinal meningitis. The Gazette says: "Dr. Quidor, doubting the cause of her death, obtained permission to make a post mortem examination. The examination disclosed the fact that the little girl's stomach was loaded with boiled cabbage, which had worked itself into one hard solid mass, distending the stomach and causing death, the victim dying in convulsions. The doctor says that many of the deaths credited to this cerebro-spinal disease have nothing to do with it, and are entirely distinct from it."

A DUBUQUE horse doctor, ever alive to the interests of horses and science, saved the life of a valuable horse in that city, last week, by ejecting the blood from a calf's veins into those of the former. A butcher knife and a tin squirt-gun were the delicate instruments used, and about a pint of blood was sent bounding into the circulation of the weakened equine, who straightway began to improve. At last accounts the horse was doing finely, though, instead of kicking, it tried to butt with its head, and when drinking, its tail waves to and fro in a ridiculous manner. The surgeon says time will tone these eccentricities down to a great extent.

A LAWYER named James W. Taylor, was recently convicted of fraudulent practice, in the United States Court, at Trenton, N. J., and sentenced to six months' imprisonment, in addition to a fine of $100. According to the testimony, it appeared that Taylor had been employed by a poor widow to collect a pension claim of $300, and that he had succeeded in his effort; but instead of handing over the amount to his client he endeavored to retain possession of it by a mean device. In passing sentence, the Judge who tried the case, said there was no extenuating circumstance. Taylor's crime would have been more severely punished but for the fact that he has a wife and children.

SINCE the order issued by the Japanese Government requiring the natives to cut off their queues, Yokohama is said to present the appearance of being inhabited by priests, with only a few weeks' crop of hair on their skulls. Several cunning speculators, as soon as the order was issued, bought up all the hats in the city, and the price of head coverings rose greatly in consequence. All the orders sent to Kobe and Osaka could not be filled, nor would they supply the demand if they were. Many new orders for hats from Europe and America have been the consequence. The hat stores in these countries will doubtless ship their old stock to Japan, and, though the hat famine will be relieved, yet the prospective flood of all manner of horribly unfashionable toggery for the head is something appalling to think of.

Wages in Switzerland.

The remuneration for the different kinds of labor in Switzerland, as we learn from an official report just made by the Swiss Government, is as follows: Weavers receive $1.92 to $3.12 per week; dyers, from $1.68 to 2.64 per week; silk spinners, from $1.92 to $2.40 per week; printers, from $2.88 to 3.60 per week; stocking weavers, from $2.40 to $4.32 per week. Gas workers are paid 72 cents a day; powder makers, 96 cents; tool and furniture makers, 60 cents; paper makers, 56; brewers and cigar makers, from 38 to 76 cents; vine dressers, from 38 to 56 cents, and agricultural laborers from 24 cents to 38 cents. Smiths, joiners, tailors, gardeners, book-binders, shoemakers, and carpenters receive from 28 cents to 56 cents a day, and watchmakers, bakers, wheelwrights and ordinary mechanics receive from 20 cents to 34 cents a day. Mowers are paid 68 cents, and gunsmiths from 72 cents to $1.14 a day. The average of wages is very low, and only in a few cases amounts to 72 cents a day.

MR. FRANK BUCKLAND, the eminent English naturalist, has some curious things sent him by post, such as a live scorpion and a Scotch viper, which came to life again on the way, and received an extra killing by the Postmaster General.

JASPER SMITH, United States Consul at Funchal, Madeira, informs the State Department of the death, on February 3, of Lieut. Commander Walter Abbot, United States navy. He was executive officer of the United States steamer Alaska, on the Asiatic station.

MRS. SHERMAN, the female poisoner, in New Haven jail, has been visited by the Rev. Mr. Goodshell, who reports that she appears "to be a person born with no moral sense whatever, with not the slightest idea of right and wrong, and yet not to be a person of loose habits or deep passions."

GRACE GREENWOOD don't understand why it is that handsome but giddy young ladies get employment in the Washington Departments, when thoughtful, experienced and prudent middle-aged women, who greatly need the proceeds of their employment, can get no such situations. Grace is dull for one of her age.

FROM the year 1741 to August, 1788, during which period they never met, Horace Walpole wrote over 800 letters to Sir Horace Mann. In a letter of August 25, 1783, he says it is "a correspondence of nearly half a century, and is, I suppose not to be paralleled in the annals of the post-office." In those days of high postage, a small fortune must have been spent in this epistolary affair.

THE death is announced at Ypres, Belgium, of M. Vandenpeereboom, at the age of ninety-nine years and four months. He was a man of great energy and initiative. In 1815 he was a member of the Commission for fixing the Belgian frontier, and the services which he rendered procured for him the Cross of the Dutch Order of the Lion. About the same period he became President of the Chamber of Commerce, and retained these functions for more than forty years. In 1856 the King of Belgium made him a Knight in the Order of Leopold.

MR. ROBERT GIFFORD, of Huntingdon county, had his house, with all its contents, consumed by fire on Monday, the 24th ult. Mr. Isaac Kelly, his son-in-law, lived in one part of the house, and lost all his household goods. The fire originated from the stove-pipe.

JOHN SLATER, an aged man of eighty-three, committed suicide on Saturday last, near Doylstown, by cutting his throat with a shoemaker's knife. He had partaken of his breakfast and appeared to be in his usual mental condition in the morning, and the only reason assigned for the unnatural act is based upon the supposition that the old gentleman was weary of life.

MR. HUGH ANDERSON, of Beaver, met with an accident on Friday last, which came near resulting in death. He had been to New Brighton on hoseback, and in returning the horse is supposed to have thrown him, as he was found lying on the ground in an unconscious state, with a frightful gash on the head. Mr. Anderson is about eight years old, but his robust frame and good constitution have no doubt saved his life this time.

Will of a Millionaire.

The will of the late Martin Kalbfleisch, of Brooklyn, N. Y., dated January 18th, 1873, disposes of a large amount of property among his nine children as follows: Mrs. E. W. Robinson, daughter, the sum of $74,000; the house and lot on Pacific street, where she now resides, worth $12,000, with a release of a debt of $14,000, due the testator from the husband of the said Elizabeth; to Frederick W. Kalbfleisch, son, the sum of $100,000, less $23,000 worth of bonds and about $35,000 of indorsement and liabilities for said son; to his daughter, Helen M. Thursby, the house and lot on South Fourth street, worth $8,000, and $92,000 cash; to his son, Edward L. G. Kalbfleisch, the sum of $50,000; to sons Charles H., Albert M., and Franklin H. K. Kalbfleisch, the store new occupied by them on Fulton street, at the corner of Cliff street, New York, and the store on Cliff street, subject to a lien of $13,000, to be secured by bond and mortgage, for the payment of the other legacies; to F. H. Kalbfleisch, also, the house and lot on Portland avenue, where he now resides, subject to the payment of $15,000 to the executors; to his daughter, Josephine M. L. Fleet, the house and grounds on Bushwich avenue, with all the personal property attached thereto, valued in all at about $60,000; to his daughter, Isabella S. Weaver, the sum of $75,000; the condition of all these legacies being that the heirs shall have the use of the legacies during their lives, and that it shall descend to their heirs as though the same had belonged to them absolutely and they had died intestate. In the codicil dated February 4, 1873, the legacy of Edward L. G. Kalbfleisch is decreased from $75,000 to $50,000, the amount previously stated. The executors are Charles H., Albert M. and Franklin A. H. Kalbfleisch. All the remainder of the property above the legacies, real, personal and mixed, is directed to be divided equally among all the children of the testator.

THE BETHLEHEM MURDER.

Some New Testimony Brought Forward.

Some new testimony has been brought forward in connection with the recent murder of Mr. Snyder, at Bethlehem, Pa. The Coroner reassembled the jury on Tuesday, the 25th ult., when the toll tender at the covered bridge offered the following evidence:

He swore that on the Friday night that Mr. Snyder was killed, while extinguishing the lights on the bridge, he found him lying insensible on the elevated walk which runs parallel with the roadway. He shook him till he was aroused, and then told him to get up or he would freeze. To this Mr. Snyder replied: "I can't; I am stabbed." He finally raised him to his feet. Mr. Snyder tried to show the toll-keeper his wounds, but that person could not see any. Mr. Snyder then said he thought he would go home, and started in that direction, while the toll-keeper went the opposite way to extinguish the light at the other end of the bridge. When he returned Mr. Snyder was gone, and he did not again see him until he was found lying in the creek. Surprise was expressed that the toll-keeper did not come forward with this evidence at first. He asserts that his reason for not doing so was that when he heard of Mr. Snyder being found dead, he feared being blamed for not having assisted him home.

The Allentown Chronicle says: "It has been ascertained that neither the blade of the knife nor of the dagger, which were found on Saturday morning in the Lehigh river, at Bethlehem, could have made the stabs on the body of Monroe Snyder. Those incisions were minutely examined by the Coroner's physician, Dr. Alfred S. Martin, of this city, in the presence of a number of the leading medical and surgical practitioners in the two Bethlehems, and their peculiar dimensions and shape closely noted. It is the general supposition that the knife and dagger were thrown from the bridge on Friday evening last, by some parties who have an interest in leading to the belief that the murder was committed where old Mr. Billing alleges he found Monroe Snyder, on the night of the latter's mysterious death, and to throw the authorities on a wrong scent. Mr. Billing, the toll keeper, says he knows that there had been some suspicion against him, and that he did not know whether he was free from it yet; however, he hoped that the truth would come out some day, and then it would not make any difference how much suspicion had been attached to him. His daughter, he said, had told him since he was examined before the Coroner's jury, that while he was going to put out the lights on the bridge, that night of his finding Monroe Snyder, she heard a person walk down the steps from the path on the bridge, and go around the corner of the house towards Bethlehem; and to that she says she is willing to swear. When the Coroner's jury is again reassembled the suspicions that have within the last two days settled upon certain new and prominent parties residing in Bethlehem will be fully ventilated."

RUPTURE.

Every kind of Trusses for the cure of Rupture may be obtained at Dr. Keyser's establishment, No. 167 Liberty street, Pittsburgh, Pa. It is a matter of the greatest consequence that all who are ruptured should be properly fitted with a suitable Truss, and one that will keep the ruptured parts in their place. Many persons do not know when they are ruptured, and frequently years are allowed to pass by before anything is done. This is a great error, and one that is often paid for at the expense of the person's life. Rupture is too serious an injury to be treated with lightness or neglect, especially when the means for its relief and cure are so easily obtained. Children and young persons are easily cured with the improved appliances which are constantly being added to the great variety which Dr. Keyser always has on hand.

Dr. Keyser's office, 167 Liberty street, Pittsburgh, Pa., from 10 A. M. until 1 P. M., and from 3 to 6, and on Saturdays at night.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, WEDNESDAY, March 5, 1873.

Our money market continues unchanged. Money is in good supply among some of the banks, while others have their funds well invested, and are not disposed to do any discounting. Rates continue as before reported, 10 to 12 on first class business paper. There is no difficulty in placing first class paper, but accumulation paper is not in favor.

We are glad to note the course taken by Gov. Hartranft in the matter of the charter of the Mifflinburg Bank. His objections to the charter, as stated in his veto message, are well put. There are too many special charters granted to banking corporations, conferring powers utterly at variance with the spirit of our laws. All our banks ought to have uniform charters, incorporated under one general law, so that our people could all understand the actual character and liability of those institutions.

In the New York stock market to-day prices have been various—some advancing and others receding. Some of the stocks are now at low figures, and we believe some of them to be a good purchase. Pacific Mail at 50 to 55 is a good purchase, and St. Paul at 52 and North West at 81. All these stocks will probably advance in the near future. On the other hand, Erie and Western Union will probably decline a few points. The market is very unsettled and under the control of a few cliques who can mark prices up or down as they please.

The total imports of foreign goods at the port of New York for the week ending March 1 and since the beginning of the year compare as follows:

NEW YORK, March 5, 1873.

The money market was close during the early hours of the day, when call loans ranged from 1-32 to 3-32. An easier feeling prevailed in the afternoon, and the rate gradually declined from 1-16 to 4 per cent. at the close. Telegrams from Washington say no definite action was taken in Congress relative to the reissue of $44,000,000 currency. A large operator made a considerable loan of Pacific Mail Company on a pledge of Western Union at 73. Sterling firmer, closing at 108@108½. Money was strong, opening at ¼ to 1, closing at 1@½. Loans 1@7 per cent. for carrying, and flat for borrowing. Clearings $52,000,000. The Treasury disbursed $117,000. Governments dull and steady. State bonds were quiet, except for Tennessees and South Carolinas—the former better and the latter lower. Railroad mortgages were active and firm, except Union Pacific incomes, which were lower. Stocks opened firm, particularly on Pacific Mail and Erie, the former being 2½ and the latter 1 per cent. above yesterday's closing rates. Pacific did not hold its advance, and fell during the day, with enormous sales, to 54¼, from which there was a rally to 55, at which it closed firm. Erie opened at 65½, fell to 64½, and closed at 65. Western Union was depressed by a clique from 87⅝ to 84⅝, recovering to 85⅝. C. C. & I. C. advanced during the day from 38½ to 40⅝, closing strong on a fair demand, the stock being largely oversold in short interest. Lake Shore ranged from 93⅜ to 94½, closing at 93⅜. Rock Island ranged from 113⅜ to 114⅜, closing at the lower rate. Union Pacifics ranged from 35⅜ to 35⅜. New York Central from 102⅞ to 103⅜, Ohios from 45⅜ to 45⅞, and Panama from 113 to 114½. The whole market closed steady.

PITTSBURGH MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, WEDNESDAY, March 5, 1873.

APPLES—The market is rather better, especially for good fruit, in consequence of the supply being very much reduced, but there is no quotable change in prices; $1.50@2 per bbl. for fair to good, and $2.50@2.75 for prime.

APPLE BUTTER—Quoted at 50@60c per gal.

BUCKWHEAT FLOUR—$7.50@8 per bbl.

BEESWAX—Quoted at 33@35 cents per lb.

BUTTER—There is a continued brisk demand for the better grades, and prices are well sustained; 30 to 33 for good to prime, and 35 for choice. Common butter is in good supply and dull.

BEANS—$2.50@3 per bushel, the outside figure for prime navy.

CHEESE—Is reported firmer, especially for good stock, but there is no change in prices; we continue to quote choice Goshen at 17@17½, in a jobbing way, and there is not much inquiry for any other kind.

CARBON OIL—Continues dull and prices are weak and drooping; we now quote standard brands at 15@15½ by the car load, and 2@3c. additional for smaller lots.

CANNED GOODS—Peaches, 3lb. cans, $3@3.25; 2lb. cans, $2.50; Winslow's Corn, $3; other brands, $2.50@2.75; Tomatoes, $2.25@2.50.

EGGS—Continue to come in freely, notwithstanding the cold weather, and prices are barely maintained; some dealers are asking 25 to 27, but there are but few sales making above 25.

FLOUR—Trade is still reported quiet and the market in a general way, presents but little that is really new or important; the tendency is still downward, but there is no change whatever in prices. We continue to quote Spring wheat at $7.75@8.25 for fair to choice Wisconsins; $8.50 for choice Minnesotas, and $9@9.25 for good to choice red winter wheat. New York was reported a shade better on Tuesday, but Liverpool continues quiet; the export trade is light, and unless the export demand should improve very materially, of which there is not much prospect at this writing, the market will doubtless continue weak with a drooping tendency.

GRAIN—The Grain trade continues very dull, and dealers report it unsatisfactory, as in addition to the demand being light, the margin is very small; it has been difficult for some time past to realize anything over a small commission and scarcely that. Wheat continues to come in very sparingly and with a very limited supply, prices are still maintained. $1.75@1.80 for good to prime red and $1.85@1.90 for white. Oats, as noted in our last report, are slow, and prices if anything weaker, though unchanged, 40@41 cts for common black; 42@43c for good mixed and 44@45 for prime white. Shelled Corn is quoted a shade firmer in consequence of diminished receipts and offerings, but there is no change to make in quotations, 50 on track, and 52 free in elevator. EarCorn cannot be fairly quoted above 50 in bulk, and 51@52 sacked. Rye is quiet; there is not much offering, and there does not seem to be much inquiry for it—in the absence of sales we continue to quote at 80. Barley is also quiet and nominally unchanged; at 85@90 for spring, and 95@$1 for fall.

GROCERIES—The unexpected arrival at New York on Monday of an extra Rio steamer, the "Memon" with, it is said, some 20,000 bags of Coffee, has, for the moment, rather demoralized the market, and the feeling is somewhat depressed, although prices are still maintained. Sugars are in fair demand but unchanged, and the same is true of Molasses. Trade generally is reported dull, but an early change for the better may be confidently expected—all that is wanted is fine weather.

COFFEE—Rio, Choice, 26; Prime, 25; Good, 24c. Java, Choice, 28; Prime, 27; Good, 26. Roasted Rio 28 in lb packages; 27½ loose. Roasted Java, package, 33, loose, 32.

RICE—Choice Carolina, 9; prime, 8¾; Patna, 8½ 8½; Rangoon, 7⅜@8.

SUGARS—Patent Cut Loaf, 14; Crushed, Granulated and Powdered, 13; Standard A, 11⅞; B, 11⅝; Ex. C, 11½; C, 11¼; C, 11¼; H. & E. C. ExC 11. Monumental Ex C, 10⅞; Lower grades, 10@10⅜; N. O. Sugars, Choice 10⅞. Prime, 10⅜; Good, 9⅞.—stock small. P. R., 10@10⅜—light stock.

MOLASSES—Choice New Orleans, 78@80c; Prime 73@75.

SYRUPS—White Drips, 70; other grades ranging from 65 to 40, as to quality.

SUNDRIES—Penna. Con Lye, $8.00. Philadelphia, $7.75. Bi-carb. Soda, kegs, $7½. Boxes, $8¾. Hammel's Ex Coffee, 4.50. Oswego & Durveas Corn starch, 11; silver and satin, 19 Buffalo Corn Starch, 10; Buffalo Gloss starch, 9. Pearl Starch, 5⅜. Shot, $3 per bag. Lead, 12. Wheeling Tobies, $10.50.

HAY—Baled continues to arrive pretty freely, but with an improved demand the market is firmer, especially for good stock, though prices remain unchanged, $24 to $28 per ton, according to quality.

HOMINY—$4.25 to $4.75 per barrel.

HONEY—Is quoted at 35 to 40c per lb.

MINCE MEAT—Standard brands 12c.

ONIONS—Are coming in more freely, but prices, especially for good stock, are still maintained, $6 to $7 per barrel.

POTATOES—The receipts have been comparatively light for some time past, the extreme cold weather placing an embargo on shipments, but the supply is still equal to the demand, and prices are unchanged 80@85c per bushel.

POULTRY—Dressed Chickens selling at 15@16 cts. per lb, and Turkeys at 20@22.

PROVISIONS—Sugar Cured Hams, 13½c; Sugar Cured Shoulders, 8¼c; Plain Shoulders, 7¼c; Rib Sides, 8¼c; Clear Rib Sides, 8¾c; Clear Sides, 9¼c; Breakfast Bacon, 12c; Dried Beef, 18c; Mess Pork, $15.50; Ham Sausage, 10c, Leaf Lard: in trcs, 9¼c; half bbls, 10c; pails, 10⅜. Pigs Feet: in half bbls, $4.40 in ¼ bbls $2.20. Beef tongues, $7.50 per dozen.

RAGS—Quoted at 3¼@3½c.

SEEDS—The market for Clover and Timothy is reported dull and weaker, although we do not change our quotations, $5.50@6 for the former, and $3.50@4 for the latter. Flax Seed, $2.

TALLOW—Unchanged at 8@8¼c.

WHISKY—Highwines may be quoted at 91@92 cts. per gallon.

PITTSBURGH LIVE STOCK MARKET

CENTRAL STOCK YARDS, EAST LIBERTY, WEDNESDAY, March 5, 1873.

The receipts continue light, and notwithstanding the eastern advices are rather unfavorable, the market in consequence of the very limited supply, is strong, and prices are fully sustained; some operators quoted an advance of ¼ to ⅜ of a cent per pound, but while this may have been realized in some instances, we do not think that it was general. Trade, however, is quick at last week's prices; sellers feel that they have the market well under control thus far, and unless there should be largely increased receipts, which is not probable, this will be the general situation during the balance of the week. Prime shipping steers are scarce, the bulk of the offerings consisting of the common and medium grades, hence, the former are selling quicker and at relatively better prices than the latter. The supply of matured cattle in the hands of feeders throughout the west is not as large as has been generally supposed, the winter having been an unusually severe one, and cattle not improving as much as they would have done had the weather been milder. As a consequence, it is expected that the supply of poorly-fed and half-fattened cattle will be large, and can only be sold at unremunerative prices, and to verify this, the bulk of the receipts consists of the medium and low grades.

Extra 1,500 steers, fat and smooth, may be quoted at 6⅞@7; prime 1,400, 6⅜@6⅝; prime 1,300, 6@6¼; good, 1,100, 5⅜@5¾; fair, 1,000, 4½@5. Sales of 45 prime southern Ohio steers, averaging about 1,400 at 6.70; 16 about same weight but not so good in point of quality, at 6⅜; 45 1,600, must have been a little rough, at 6½; 33 averaging 1280 at 6.10; 71 Texans, 1,100 at 4½; 15 good 1,600 bulls at 4¼; 8 1,100 steers at 5.35; 17 1,200 at 5.65; 15 1,140, 5⅜; 17 1,200, 5⅜; 16 1,500 bulls, 3.85; 17 1,170, 5⅜; 61, 1,130 at 5⅜; 7, 1,103, 4. The sales thus far this week, up until noon to-day, footed up 635 head, and at the same time from all that we could learn, there were but few in the pens unsold; and considering the depressed condition of the eastern markets for some time past, trade here, is all and even more than could reasonably be expected.

SHEEP.

The sheep market for some cause or other, or combination of causes, continues to drag; the arrivals thus far have not been above an average, but there seems to be less inquiry, and there were quite a number in the pens at noon to-day unsold. Prices, however, as compared with last week, are without quotable change; but the general tone of the market, as already intimated, seems to be weaker and the tendency is downward. There are several causes for this apparent depression, to some of which we shall refer; in the first place we are reliably informed that pelts have depreciated very materially recently; and then, again, the wool trade has been very much depressed for some weeks past; the consequence is, growers are not so stiff in their views, and the offerings are increasing, while, on the other hand, buyers are exercising more than ordinary caution, as it becomes them to do so, as this is a critical time to those who buy to ship to any of the leading markets.

Prime to extra 100 lbs. fine wool may be quoted at 6⅜@6⅝: 90@95 lbs, 6@6¼; good 80@85 lbs, 5½@5⅞. Hazlewood & Blackstock report having sold 164 mixed wool, 106 lbs, at 6⅛; 85 fine wool, 84 lbs, 6; 350 mixed wool, 93 lbs, at 5.70. Martin Lafferty, good authority, reports the market substantially as we have reported it, and he is corroborated by Henry Erisman, one of our heaviest New York buyers.

HOGS.

Prime heavy hogs, such as are purchased for shipment to Philadelphia, continue scarce, and for such the market is firm, though prices, as compared with the early part of the week, are a shade lower; on Monday and Tuesday there were several bunches of Chicago "tops" sold at 6.10@6.12—one lot of fancy brought 6⅛; but to-day 6 was regarded as the highest notch, indicating a decline of 10 to 12½c per cwt. Light hogs, better known among dealers as Yorkers, may be quoted at 5⅜ to 5⅝, as to quality.

PETROLEUM MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, WEDNESDAY, March 5, 1873.

Trade both in crude and refined continues quiet, and the market is devoid of any new features worthy of special notice. Crude is still quoted at $2.00 to $2.10 per barrel at Parker, equal to 5⅜@5½ cents per gallon delivered here. The receipts have been unusually heavy during the past few days and our refiners must be pretty well stocked. Refined continues dull and neglected, although prices are without quotable change; Philadelphia delivery, quoted at 18⅜ for March; 18⅞ for April, and 19⅜ for May. There is little or no inquiry from the west, and we reduce our quotations to 15 cents; Cleveland, we understand, is only asking 15, and it is probable is selling for less. Petroleum is without doubt the cheapest article in market.

Oil barrels quiet and nominally unchanged; country, $1.85; city, 9 lb hoops, $1.90; 10 lb hoops, $2.

RIVER NEWS.

The river continues to recede steadily, with scant three feet in the channel—navigation is still suspended, and the indications are not very favorable for an early resumption. It is true the weather has moderated slightly but it is cold yet; and, besides, even if it should turn in warm, there is no water and no snow to make any; thus, it will be seen, that, in addition to the ice embargo, we are threatened with low water.

—The Cincinnati Commercial says: A number of years have passed since ice was seen floating here in March. On board the Mollie Ebert this morning, Chief Clerk Standish Peppard recalled an ice reminiscence, dating back to 1856. During the latter part of December, of that year the Washington City left Pittsburgh for New Orleans, and it was near the last of March when she again entered that port, having been ninety days on the round trip, and run through heavy ice the whole time. Capt. Wash. Ebert, now master of the Mollie Ebert, was her commander, and Mr. Peppard was in her office. Wharfmaster Sid. Milner was serving on the Washington City then, in the capacity of watchman.

—A Middleport dispatch under date of the 3d says: The Emma Graham is now running in her regular trade, Parkersburg and Huntingdon, making tri-weekly trips. She was on time this morning with a fine trip. The following have arrived and laid up on account of ice: Lioness No. 2, Coal Valley, Whale, Resolute, Blue Lodge and Tom Lysle with barges. The Sampson No. 2 in landing in a snow-storm at Syracuse last night, sunk a boal barge for Nye Edwards containing 7,000 bushels of coal. She harbored 3.

—The St. Louis Democrat is responsible for the following: Capt. Wills was never at any time very successful with steamers or barges, but that was a good stroke of his, a short time ago, when he married a handsome widow in Havana, Ill., worth $100,000. Let it be spoken to other boatmen. Go and do likewise. Capt. Wills does not wish to go on the river.

—The Cincinnati Gazette of Tuesday says: The Exchange discharged about 200 tons of freight here. She took on as much more, including the reshipping freight of the Chas. B. Church, and was preparing to leave for Pittsburgh last evening. Pilots, Joseph Whitten and Wm. Alexander.

—The River and Harbor Appropriation Bill has now passed the House and Senate, and only lacks the signature of the President to become a law. The Louisville and Portland Canal matter having been included in the bill, that institution goes into the hands of the Government, and the toll thereafter will be 25c per ton.

—A late Memphis paper says: Arkansas River pilots are scarce and in active demand. The West Wind left port single handed yesterday, her captain having to stand watch with Ad. Wason, while the Cheek was compelled to lay over, because no pilot could be obtained.

—Mr. B. D. Durfee, engineer of the Pauline Carroll, wears a valuable diamond pin which was presented to him by a wealthy young lady for saving her life at the risk of his own.

—The Collier is loading her barges at Evansville for New Orleans.

The French Assembly Considering the Report of the Committee of Thirty—French Troops Reported to be Surrounded by Arabs in Algeria—Proposed Fenian Amnesty Meeting—Dissolution of the Spanish Assembly Demanded by the Republicans.

SPAIN.

Dissolution of the Assembly Demanded.

MADRID, March 5.—The bill introduced in the National Assembly yesterday by Senor Figueras, President of the Ministry, does not meet with the approval hoped for by the Government. A meeting of 239 Radical deputies, a majority of the entire Assembly, was held on Tuesday evening, and unanimously disapproved of the proposition for the suspension of the sitting and the convocation of a constituent Cortes. A permanent committee is to be elected to-day, and it is expected it will consist of members hostile to a constituent Cortes.

There are troubles in Madrid, and street conflicts are apprehended. The Republicans are greatly excited and demand the dissolution of the Assembly. The Government has decided to make the bill a Cabinet question.

Congratulations from Uncle Sam.

General Sickles communicated to Senor Castelar the congratulations of the United States Senate upon the establishment of the Spanish Republic.

The Assembly to-day passed the first and a portion of the second clause of the report of the committee of thirty.

French Troops Surrounded by Arabs.

PARIS, March 5.—A dispatch from Algiers says that seven hundred French troops, under Galleft Chartres, were surrounded in the extreme south of Algeria by ten thousand Arabs, and were in imminent danger of capture. Reinforcements have been dispatched to the besieged troops, but it is feared they may be too late.

LEGISLATURES.

Ohio.

COLUMBUS, March 5.—In the House bills were introduced to amend the estray act so as to provide for the sale of animals taken up under said act, at the expiration of four months; to repeal all laws restricting State banks of issue to six per cent. interest; to punish persons buying or receiving goods or chattels that have been taken by thieves; to allow appeals to be taken from proceedings in Probate Courts; to remove the guardians of lunatics or idiots. The following bills were passed: Senate bill to legalize certificates of incorporation that have been filed without being signed by the requisite number of corporators; Senate bill providing that when Justices of the Peace charge greater fees than the laws allow he shall be liable to a fine of five hundred dollars; also that he shall make out an itemized account of charges; Senate bill to provide that the United States Hydrometer shall be used in testing spirituous liquors in Ohio.

In the Senate this afternoon the House bill to require Probate Judges to make a statement of the fees received by them to the State Auditor, to require township trustees to lease town halls and to pay the money derived therefrom into the township treasury, were passed.

In the House a bill to authorize private banks to become incorporated was indefinitely postponed.

The committee on temperance reported back the bill to authorize the people of any township to vote on and decide whether intoxicating liquors shall be sold within their borders, with an amendment reading "except for medicinal and mechanical purposes." The question being on agreeing to the amendment and ordering the bill to its engrossment, the House refused to do either. The bill to provide that tax rates shall not be published more than two weeks failed to pass. A resolution was offered and referred to the committee on federal relations asking the Ohio representatives in Congress to endeavor to secure an amendment to the Constitution providing for the election of United States Senators by the people at large. A resolution was adopted directing the Legislature Investigation Committee to inquire whether any improper influences were brought to bear on members of the Legislature of 1870 and 1871 to secure the passage of the Short Line railroad bill, or any other matter that came before the Legislature.

Signed. THOMAS A. ADAMS, Chairman.

NEW-YORK.

The Forgeries on the Bank of England—The Reprieve of Foster—A Boston Highwayman Returned—The Ousting of Gould from the Erie Presidency—Pacific Mail Steamers to be Sold.

NEW YORK, March 5, 1873.

The Forgeries on the Bank of England.

In answer to a cable inquiry made last evening, Jay Cooke & Co. have received a dispatch from Jay Cooke, McCulloch & Co., of London, stating that they have sustained no loss or liability to loss through the forgeries referred to in the press telegrams this morning. So far as understood, the bank of England appears to be the only loser by the forgeries, the precise nature and extent of which have not yet been made known by the Bank. The above firm also received a dispatch from London cautioning them, in dealing in foreign exchange, to beware of forged bills in circulation.

The Reprieve of Foster.

The Foster reprieve is understood to be granted in order that the Governor may consult with the Judge or the Court of Appeals. The prisoner's friends now think that the sentence may be commuted to imprisonment for life, at hard labor, in Sing Sing. The news was received at the Toombs at a late hour, and when made known to Foster he became somewhat overcome, but said it was something he never expected.

The Ousting of Gould.

In several telegrams from the English stockholders of the Erie Railway, concerning the ousting of Gould from the Presidency a year ago, and just published, to-day, it appears that that movement was entirely without Gould's knowledge, and, moreover, that the English stockholders had expressed their inflexible determination to do nothing whatever which would involve any compromise with Gould or his agents.

Military.

Company A, of the St. Louis National Guard, will visit this city on their homeward trip from Washington. The Seventh regiment will entertain them during their stay. Reports from Washington distinguish them as a remarkably well dressed, drilled and officered company.

Financial.

A special from Washington to the Express states that Assistant Secretary Richardson says no action has been taken relative to the $44,000,000 bill. The matter remains precisely as it did before, the Secretary still claiming the right to issue the whole amount whenever necessary.

Meeting of Apollo Hall Democrats.

The Apollo Hall General Committee met last evening and elected John McCool Chairman. The opposing candidate was Judge Spaulding. During the meeting the police ejected one of a number who were improperly voting as substitutes.

A suspicious person named Stanley on Monday night appeared at the station house for lodging, when it was ascertained that he was a Boston highwayman, and that he had been sent to this city by the authorities after serving his imprisonment. The authorities here yesterday sent him back to Boston.

THE loss sustained by the burning of the Mercer Woolen Mills is stated to be $40,000; insurance $18,000. It is proposed to build a new mill, $10,000 in stock having already been subscribed by persons outside of the old company.

JOHN ROYER, Esq., of Phœnixville, one of the originators of the Phœnix, attained his 80th birth-day on the 22d. He is one of the oldest printers in the State, still hale and hearty and sometimes recalls youthful memories by working at case.

THE postoffice at Brandywine Summit, Delaware county, was broken into and robbed on Wednesday night last. A man, named George McKinn, has been arrested and lodged in jail, some of the stolen articles having been found on his person.

THE clothing house of Mr. Harris, the Morrison Block, Oil City, was damaged by fire to the extent of from $25,000 to $30,000, on Tuesday morning. There was an insurance of $23,000 on the stock and $2,200 on the fixtures. There was also an insurance on the building of $10,000.

THE Record learns that the new well on the Irwin farm, near Cherrytree, has 400 feet of oil in the hole. It is owned by Jonathan Watson, of Titusville. Indications appear to show that oil exists in large quantities thereabouts, the consequence of which is that the corner lots in Cherrytree have advanced considerably in price.

THE Easton Sentinel says: "The new Weikel iron mine, on lands of Mr. Bittenbender, near Hensingersville, Lehigh county, contains enough ore to supply half a dozen furnaces for fifty years. So says a competent judge. The vein is about eighteen feet thick, and comes up to within three to six feet of the top of the ground. The ore can be taken out very easily and cheaply—at an expense, it is said, of not over one dollar per ton.

SATURDAY last, a young man named Patrick McMann was shockingly injured while at work at the Fishbach rolling mill, at Pottsville. He is a helper at the rolls, and while at work, received a full charge of red hot cinders squarely in his face and eyes, burning him terribly, and making his eyes to be only a swollen mass of proud flesh. McMann is a man of about 25 years of age, and resides at Fishbach. For one so young he has met with great misfortune, having lost a leg some years ago.

THE boiler at Dimick, Nesbitt & Co.'s oil well, at Petrolia, exploded on Tuesday afternoon, shaking every building in the town. The boiler turned a complete somersault, landing on the opposite side of Beer Creek, seventy feet distant, leaving half the smoke stack suspended in a tree, and breaking a pipe line in its flight. The engine house was completely demolished, and the boiler door carried several hundred yards over the company's office. Two men named Clark and Landin were severely wounded, but will recover.

OHIO.

MR. JAMES WORMINGTON, of Wayne township, Columbiana county, is in his one hundred and third year.

SAD bereavements have befallen the publishers of the Cambridge Jeffersonian. A short time since Mrs. J. P. Mahaffey, the young wife of the junior publisher, died one week after giving birth to a child. On Sunday evening, Mrs. Mitchener died in the throes of child birth—both publishers thus losing their wives within ten days.

THIRTEEN years ago this winter, Lewis Mason and Samuel Barnes caught a large gray fox, near Lowell, in Washington county. They tied him with a rope, first having placed a leather strap around his neck. This rope the fox gnawed off and made his escape. This winter the same parties recaptured Reynard, and, strange to state, he had on his neck the same identical strap which they placed there thirteen years before. They slaughtered their game this time to make sure of him.

HOME NEWS.

Free Lecture.

Rev. Dr. Howard, Pastor of the Second Presbyterian church will deliver a free lecture this evening at the rooms of the Christian Association, taking for his subject "St. Patrick." His subject is an interesting one, and his lecture has been highly spoken of by those who have heard it. Admission free.

Our Boys at Yale College.

The Annual Delta Kappa Prize Declamation came off at New Haven, Conn., on Saturday. The highest honors were taken by two of our Pittsburgh Freshman, Willie N. Frew, son of Major Frew, taking the first prize, and Kennedy T. Friend, son of W. C. Friend, Esq., taking the second.

O'Baldwin Jailed.

Ned O'Baldwin the noted bruiser was fined fifty dollars and sentenced ten days to jail yesterday by a Steubenville Justice. He got on his high horse there, and was going to tear things generally, when a police officer marched him off to the lock-up, after which he was brought before a magistrate as above stated. It is said that previous to this he had laid out several roughs in a fight. The rough element in Steubenville yesterday was very strong.

Foundry Accident.

Yesterday afternoon, at Spratt & Johnson's, foundry, corner of Lacock and Darrah street, Allegheny, while a pot of molten iron was being removed to the moulds, the chain of the crane gave way, upsetting the metal in a puddle of water, causing quite an explosion. Some of the hot metal was thrown in the face of a young man named Wm. Welsh, burning him terribly. He was taken to his home on Lacock street, and Dr. Huselton summoned. He has lost one eye, and his face has been horribly disfigured.

Diamond Cut Diamond.

We learn that when the final vote on the Local Option bill was called in the Senate on Monday night, Mr. Josephs, although opposed to the bill, voted in favor of it, evidently to have the privilege of moving a reconsideration at some future time. But Mr. Mahon, not to be outdone in strategy, immediately moved to reconsider as soon as he had helped to "push the thing through." This, of course, was lost, thus destroying any more chances to "reconsider," (as this can be attempted but once), and leaving Mr. Joseph's vote recorded in favor of the bill!

The Allegheny Car and Transportation Company.

We invite the attention of capitalists desirous of investing in the capital stock of this company to the advertisement relating to it in another column, from which it appears that the directors have determined to open the books for an additional subscription of $100,000, thus increasing the subscribed stock to $250,000, which is expected to suffice to put the enterprise into successful and practical operation. The act of incorporation was approved May 12th, 1871, and a supplement thereto on March 28th, 1872.

The charter grants large and liberal privileges under which, in the hands of the capitalists who have already subscribed $150,000 and organized the company with well chosen directors and officers, the success of the project would seem to be placed beyond a doubt. Certainly, we know of no investment among the many offering that presents so many or such strong temptations for prudent men to invest in.

Concert and Tableaux.

To-morrow evening there will be given in the chapel of the Pittsburgh Female College a concert and tableaux entertainment, which promises to be a most enjoyable affair. The preparations have been made for the tableaux with great care, and as the subjects are eminently attractive, this part of the programme can hardly fail to prove very attractive. Then in addition a number of our best amateurs have consented to take part in the exercises with songs and instrumental selections of a choice character, while the intervening spaces will be filled by the representatives of the Juvenile element, in songs, speeches, readings, &c. The entertainment is given for benevolent purposes, and in this, as in every way, is worthy of support. From a personal knowledge of the performers and programme, we believe none who visit the chapel on Friday evening will be disappointed in their expectations of enjoyment.

Festival at the Fourth U. P. Church.

This festival which began on Tuesday last, was in progress last evening, and will close tonight, unless the committee should be tempted by the crowds in attendence, to continue it one evening more. We looked in last evening and were surprised to find the spacious church filled with guests. The supper was served in the gallery. Two lines of tables extending quite across the nave, were filled many successive times, and at 10 o'clock, when we left, a multitude were waiting for their turn. The suplies donated by the congregation were ample for the large company, and all were satisfied with the quality and variety of the good things, under which the tables groaned. Messrs. Hamiltons, Scott, Mitchells, Beaty and Gillespie were among the gentlemen, and Mesdames, Hamilton, Lewis, Stevenson, Mitchell, Booth, McGregor, and Ardary were some of the ladies who were useful and busy in the management; and the Pastor, Rev. John Gaily, encouraged all by his presence and cheerful participation. The Reverend Gentleman was taken all aback by an unexpected donation from his Bible class of a very fine supplement to his library, which he gratefully and gracefully accepted. We have rarely seen so large an assemblage of both sexes and all ages enjoy themselves more heartily than on this occasion. The proceeds of the festival, which must have run up to nearly $1,000, are to be in aid of the Church and of the Sabbath School connected with it.

ANOTHER BROKEN RAIL.

A Train Off the Track on the Panhandle—Several Passengers Hurt.

The No. 6 Express west on the Panhandle Railroad, which left this city at 1:45 yesterday morning, met with a broken rail about a quarter of a mile west of Willow Grove Station. The entire train was thrown from the track, the two hindmost coaches (sleepers) being thrown down a small embankment. Mrs. Ann Price, of Springfield, Missouri, had a leg broken. She was taken to Steubenville, where the Company placed her in charge of their physician, and did all for her that was possible. The other passengers injured are: John Nash, Cincinnati, shoulder dislocated; M. S. Marquis, Philadelphia, back bruised; Miss Thompson, Ballston Spa, N. Y., head cut; T. M. Beels, right heel slightly cut; S. Fenchtmanger, New York, slight cut on the head. All the passengers but Mrs. Price proceeded on their journey. The sleeping cars were badly wrecked.

A CASE OF SOMNAMBULISM.

Walking Out of a Window—Hung by a Butcher's Hook.

Dr. A. Arthurs was summoned yesterday morning to the Miners' Home, on Grant street, between Second and Third avenues, to attend to a man who had been injured during the night under very peculiar and singular circumstances. It appears he is subject to somnambulism, and Tuesday night in his sleep he got up and deliberately dressed himself. He then took out the lower sash of one of the windows of his room, and proceeded to walk out. The walking was a success till he got outside of the window. Then there was a sudden halt. The fact was, in his descent he caught upon one of the hooks of a butcher's frame that stood below. There he hung by one of his boots till it was completely torn off, then he proceeded on his journey to mother earth. Here there was a definite stop. The man is not dangerously injured, but he has received some severe bruises and a terrible shock to his nervous system, as he woke up when he landed on the hook. He stated to Dr. Arthurs that he had a daughter who did the same thing—walking on roofs, window-sills, etc. The man will no doubt recover.

THE SUPPOSED WIFE MURDER.

The Body to be Disenterred and a Post Mortem Examination to be made.

An investigation into the case of the supposed wife murder has been decided upon, and the facts in this mysterious affair will now probably be brought to light. It will be remembered that Mrs. Nunns, who lived at Johnston's Station on the Allegheny Valley Railroad, died suddenly about two weeks ago, shortly after receiving a dose of croton oil, administered by her husband. He was afterwards arrested and is now in jail. The body of the woman was buried the day after her death without an inquest or an examination of any kind. Yesterday, however, the Commissioners of the county held a meeting at which they decided to have an analysis made of the stomach of the deceased, and an inquest held upon the remains. For this purpose the Commissioners authorized an expenditure not to exceed forty dollars. Detective Seth Wilmot leaves for Johnston early this morning to have the body disinterred, and to summon witnesses to appear before the Coroner's jury. Dr. McGee, Mrs. Foster, nurse of deceased, and several other persons will be subpœnaed. The Coroner will take with him two or three prominent physicians from this city, to conduct the post mortem examination.

OBITUARY.

Death of Col. William Hopkins.

Last evening Col. William Hopkins, a member of the Constitutional Convention from Washington, Pa., died at the Union Depot in this city while on his way home from Philadelphia. The deceased left Philadelphia for Washington on last Thursday, and upon arriving in this city was taken sick with the pneumonia, which resulted in his death. The deceased was well known in this part of the State, having been a member of the House and Senate, and at one time Speaker of the former. He was also for many years Canal Commissioner. Deceased was a prominent member of the Second U. P. church, Washington, and was loved and respected as an honorable, Christian gentleman. A committee from the Constitutional Convention will visit this city and take charge of the remains.

Death of W. W. Brown.

The death of Mr. W. W. Brown, of Allegheny, will occasion sincere sorrow in a large circle of business and social friends. The event though not unexpected, was doubly saddening from the fact that the deceased was but in the prime of life, and bid fair to continue for many years, a career of usefulness in the business world and the church which had been his pleasure in the days of health. He was one of Allegheny's best citizens, and in all circles, the loss is one which will occasion genuine regret.

The funeral will take place to-morrow afternoon from the First Presbyterian Church, Arch street, Allegheny, (Rev. E. E. Swift's) at 2 P. M.

The first purchasers will get the cream of the stock and save 25 per cent. profit, at Macrum & Carlisle's great closing out sale.

....Some time ago Norman M. Smith, Esq., Chairman of the Executive Committee of the Grand Army of the Republic, of Allegheny county, addressed a letter to General Negley, calling attention to the numerous soldiers' graves in Allegheny county, which are unmarked. The General endorsed the letter and sent it to the Secretary of War, Belknap. The Secretary has replied that headstones have been advertised for, and that the department is now awaiting a more definite action of Congress, as to what manner of tombstones shall be adopted.

....The officers of the Women's Christian Association have lately been in consultation with certain prominent coal operators of this city relative to a proposed coal railway which is to run between some of the works on the on the Monongahela river, and the Pennsylvania Railroad. The line is laid out directly between the "Old Ladies Home" and "Sheltering Arms," which are under the control of the Association. A change of route is desired by the latter, as such a road, they think, would be a great annoyance to the inmates of the two institutions. It is probable that some compromise will be agreed upon.

THE RELIGIOUS AMENDMENT.

A Meeting of Clergymen Opposed to the Amendment—The Report Adopted.

Yesterday afternoon an adjourned meeting of clergymen opposed to the incorporation of a clause in the Constitution of the United States recognizing the existence of God and the Savior, was held at the German Reform Lutheran Church, corner Sixth avenue and Smithfield street. The following clergymen were present: Rev. Woel, of the Smithfield or German Reformed Church, Rev. Schelling, of the Lutheran Church, Ohio street, Allegheny; Rev. Lorch, Lutheran Church, East Birmingham; Dr. Mayer Rabbi, of the Jewish Temple, Eighth street; Rev. Schnor, German Lutheran Church, Temperanceville; Rev. Weitershausen, of the Protestant Lutheran Church, Allegheny; Rev. Weber, German Reformed Church, Etna; Rev. Seipel, German Reformed Church, Lawrenceville, and Rev. Van De Mark, of the Univeralist Church. The exercises were conducted in German.

Rev. M. Weil was called to the chair and stated the object of the meeting. After which Rabbi Naumburg made an extended address in support of the object of the meeting.

The following report was then offered by the Revs. Lorch, Scheling and Rabbi Mayer:

A dark spirit is at present pervading the country, and seeking to undermine the Constitution which was formed by our father. One party engaged in this unchristian work seeks to set up a standard of extreme religion, while the other side want to have religion perfectly free and untrammelled, while strong efforts are being made in Europe to separate church and State, here efforts are being made to unite them. In view of these unpleasant facts a meeting was held in this city February 22nd, the birthday of Washington the immortal father of our country, who broke the chain of tyranny which these fanatics are seeking to bridge anew in the people. We trust that all liberal, courageous, and high minded men will unite in a protest against this attempt to coerce religious opinion, and endeavor to prevent the insertion of such an intolerant clause in the Constitution of the country. This country is made up of Jews, Unitarians, and others whose right of conscience would be violated by compelling them to believe in the Son of God. Such intolerance would destroy the religious freedom, now enjoyed by all denominations, and its tendency is calculated to bring about a religious war and stir up angry passions. The report was on motion received and unanimously adopted.

Rev. Van De Mark made a few remarks in furtherance of the object of the meeting, and contended that the utmost freedom of religious opinion should be allowed all denominations.

After some further discussion the conference adjourned to meet at same place on Wednesday, March 19.

POLICE PARAGRAPHS.

YESTERDAY, William, alias "Babe" Montgomery, obtained bail in the required sum, $2,000, and was released from jail.

W. B. BUSSMAN, previously mentioned as having been arrested for adultery, was committed to jail yesterday morning for a hearing on Wednesday.

DURING the last month Deputy Mayor Helsel, of the South Side, disposed of seventy-three cases brought before him by the Municipal police force.

HENRY GAUTSCHY was held in $1,000 bail for court yesterday, by Alderman O'Donnell, on the charge of Alexander Blessing, with attempting to dispose of his stock of goods with intent to defraud his creditors.

THE Mayor had twenty-three common cases before him yesterday morning. Valentine Diary, colored, was sent to the Work House for thirty days, for vagrancy, Peter McGee, for disorderly conduct, was committed for sixty days.

THOMAS GILLESPIE, John Hines, Thomas Burk, Henry Smith, Charles Brown, John Harris, John Campbell and John Wilson, charged with vagrancy and drunkenness, were sent to the Workhouse for thirty days by the Allegheny Mayor yesterday.

HENRY MELTON made an information yesterday afternoon before Alderman McMasters, charging Joseph Mulligan with aggravated assault and battery. They are both employed at the Novelty Works. It is alleged that Mulligan threw a moulders board at complainant which struck him aside of his head, splitting his ear, severing it as if a knife. The defendent was arrested and gave bail for a hearing.

WILLIAM LILLIE, at his own request, was sent to the Workhouse for thirty days by Deputy Mayor Irwin yesterday. He had been unable to find work, and he wanted shelter. He stated to the magistrate that he had nothing to eat for more than a day. The mayor kindly furnished him with food, but was unable to procure him work, even for his boarding. Therefore he committed him to Claremont as requested.

HOW BLIND BEGGARS BEG.

Paying a Man to Lead Twenty-five Dollars per Month—A Complaint Before an Alderman—How it was Entertained.

Henry Finke yesterday morning entered Alderman Taylor's office, on Penn street, and wanted to make an information against a blind beggar called "Tom." Finke stated that he had worked for "Blind Tom" two months, at fifteen dollars per month, that he did please his employer so well that he raised his wages to twenty-five dollars. He had always paid him promptly every week, but now he owed him one week's pay at the rate of twenty-five dollars per month, and he wouldn't pay him. The 'Squire here interposed and asked him what he did for this blind man. "Why lead him 'round," was the reply. The Alderman then asked him the name of the blind begger. Finke stated he couldn't gave that, as all he knew of his name was "Tom." The Alderman here interposed again, and asked him how he expected to get any money from a poor blind man. His reply was rather characteristic. "Why, sir, that 'ere blind man is better off nor you are; he is got property in Ohio worth $10,000, and the cuss has $900 in a Pittsburgh savings bank." The Alderman then asked him why such a strapping young fellow as he was should go around leading an impostor of a blind man. "Why, sir, you ought both to be in jail." "O, sir," said the man, "I have a very weak back; I ain't able to work, so I does dis 'ere." The 'Squire then told him to get the man's name, and he would entertain his complaint. The fellow perhaps thought "discretion the better part of valor," and did not return. It is well to be on guard against these blind beggars. There are homes and asylums provided for them, where they are taken care of without resorting to begging. In the vicinity of the Grain Elevator live several who have frequent quarrels, and not unfrequently are brought to the lock-up and fined. These people beg in the day, and get drunk and carouse at night.

Amusements.

PITTSBURGH OPERA HOUSE.—The play of "Davy Crocket," with its beautiful and realistic scenes of frontier life, continues to draw good audiences, who seem to appreciate the enterprise of the management. Mr. Mayo's delineation pleases all, and is very natural and life like. Miss Ellsler, too, wins many encomiums of appreciation. The entire cast is good, and the play is meeting with the success which it justly merits.

AIMS' AMERICAN THEATRE.—The Carrolls, Budworth, the Leopolds and Leo are meeting with much success. The house is crowded every night to witness the various acts and gymnastic sensations. The entire performance gives good satisfaction.

TRIMBLE'S VARIETIES.—M' Andrews, Hawley, Sadi D'Jalmi and Miss Helene Smith continue drawing attractions, everything passes off smoothly, and the entertainments are hugely relished by the large audiences which gather within its walls.

LIBRARY HALL.—The lecture of Wendell Phillips, the distinguished scholar and eloquent orator, which will be delivered to-night at Library Hall, promises to be one of the most interesting events in the lecture season. This last lecture of Mr. Phillips, on "Froude," is spoken of as one of his most able efforts by all who have heard it. Aside from the entertaining style in which Mr. Phillips treats all his subjects, this one will be unusually attractive, as the topic is a live one. The lecture season draws rapidly to a close, and will probably end with one or two more entertainments, so we advise all to improve the few that remain.

MOUNT WASHINGTON LECTURES.—Our readers holding season tickets for the lectures under the auspices of the Mt. Washington M. E. Church, will please bear in mind that the last of the course will be delivered on Friday evening, March 7th. As we intimated in a previous issue, Hon. H. B. Swoope has been compelled, on account of his prolonged illness, to cancel his engagement to give the last lecture in this course. W. B. Watkins, D. D., has consented to fill the gap thus made, and on this occasion will give, what we consider, his best lecture. It is full of fun, and a profusion of good things.

Worthy of Confidence.

One of the most important branches of business in our city now, consequent upon its rapid growth, is that connected with the purchase and sale of real estate, and there is hardly any man who is trying to make his way in a material point of view who is not interested in it. To all such, and especially to those who have not devoted the necessary time to perfect their judgment in regard to real estate, such a reliable agency as that of Mr. Isadore Cobleus is of particular importance. Mr. Cobleus is a gentleman possessed of ample capital, and with a rare experience in the business to which he now devotes his time. He has opened an office at No. 58½ Fourth avenue; and proposes to engage exclusively in the purchase and sale of real estate, notes, stocks, bonds, &c., on commission. For many years he has been numbered among our most enterprising, shrewd and honorable business men, and has gained the highest reputation among all with whom he has had intercourse. He has had a long experience in matters pertaining to real estate and stocks, and we know any who have business of that kind will find it greatly to their profit to take advantage of his facilities to conduct their negotiations. We can endorse him as a business man in every way worthy of confidence.

Now, we write to say that Messrs. Moorhouse & Carsten, corner of Fourth avenue and Market street, are ready with a superb stock of Spring Dry Goods and Dress Goods, to which they ask the notice of the lady readers of the GAZETTE. They have a full line of Black Silks of the most reputed manufactures, which they offer at lower prices than ever before. Moorhouse & Carsten show also striped and fancy Silks in a profuse variety. The Departure of Winter.

The last week according to that veracious chonicler the almanac maker witnesses the departure of winter, and spring comes tripping in, promising bluer skies, balmier airs, green fields, the blossoms and the flowers, and all who wish to be in accord with these happy surroundings should make preparations accordingly. Our lady friends we know are rejoiced that the spring at last is coming and are already making preparations to enjoy it by laying in a fresh stock of spring wear, that will emble them to be arrayed suitably to the season. And in following out their programme where else could they go than to Messrs. Rosenbaum & Fleishman's No. 76 Market street where all the new spring styles have been received, and are now exhibited in all their glory. All ladies who have not yet called at Rosenbaum & Fleishman's should do so to-day and take a look at the superb stock.

Kauffman, Stock and Note Broker, No. 116 Smithfield street, Pittsburgh. Constant communication with New York. Quotations cheerfully furnished on application at his office.

The highest compliment yet paid to the new city charter was that of Snook's, who compared it to a Municipal Mardorf Broom, which was to sweep away all municipal evils, just as the Mardorf, in actual use by domestics, always clears everything found in front of it, and is really the only broom that receives the unanimous endorsement of all house-keepers.

THE WEATHER.

To the Editors of the Pittsburgh Gazette.

The indications of March heretofore, in some cases, have failed to correspond with the facts, and I was about to omit giving the indications, but will risk their publicity; being of a wild and mixed up nature that they are almost indescribable. The February indications we copy.

"From 27th January to 26th February, point to twenty-three cloudy and variable days, seventeen of snow or rain, seven of fair and clear. A stormy, changeable, cold, disagreeable month."

RECORD.

From 27th of January to February 26th cloudy; variable twenty-two days; rain six, snow nine, clear and fine eight, hard freeze sixteen; rain and melted snow fell 3 36-100 inches. Daily average of the thermometer, 31; river 9 feet.

The same days in January and February, 1865, the daily average of the thermometer was 31½. March was warmer than the present is likely to be; the spring and summer were all the farmer could desire. The river was up 4 to 9 feet till August. Thunder showers numerous, and many persons killed by lightning.

Green peas were plenty in market on June 1, and many of the early vegetables, greens, &c., were in the market before May. The winter, with the exception of the length of it, was similar in this region to the past one.

The prospect for the farmer now, and a healthy atmosphere, is very good. The farmer will lose nothing by not being able to break and fill the ground in March, if the rains in April are not excessive. The prospect is more favorable.

INDICATIONS.

From February 26th to March 28th, twenty-two cloudy and variable days, and eleven of rain and snow, principally snow; eight of clear and fair. Milder, higher temperature after 21st inst., prevailing winds west of north-west; dry, cold and piercing with but a few spring like days, with little rain; blustering short storms of fine frosty snow, also squalls of snow storms of short duration; and at intervals of spitting feather flakes, a mixed up cold dry month with no contioued river of suitable dept for large boats.

In our October, November and December report it was said there would be more frequent snow storms, and would lay longer than usual.

P. S. Since writing the above I have observed the rapid and very high rise of the barometer in connection with the low thermometer, which indicates a heavy storm of snow, or snow and rain, within three or four days.

AVERT THE DANGER.

The "ethereal mildness" with which poets credit the vernal season is more an illusion of the fancy than a meteorological fact. Early spring in temperate climates is a tearful time, and the tears are usually too cool for health or comfort. To avert the the complaints to which the fogs and winds of the season are apt to give rise, prudent people who believe in the proverb that "prevention is better than cure" fortify their stomachs and brace up their nerves and muscles with Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. Those who do this are wise, and are rewarded for their wisdom by escaping the visitations of chills and fever, rheumatism, biliousness, flatulency, constipation, stomach complaints, &c., so common in damp, inhospitable weather. To the less prudent, who neglect this precaution, and suffer for it, we would say, that the disorders which this potent vegetable tonic prevents it also cures.
